Flames Threaten to Spread to Adjoining Structures
In Capital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — Fire, which broke out suddenly on the roof of the United States treasury here late today destroyed priceless government records and burned a large hole in the roof of the historic structure. After an hour's strenuous fire fighting, firemen had the blaze under control and at 4:30 p. m., it was virtually out. The damage to the building will be slightly less than $100,000, William Brady, superintendent of the building, said. Treasury department officials stated that the loss in valuable government records, blueprints and the like is incalculable.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — Fire, which broke out on the roof of the United States treasury here late today, threatened to reach the test room of the prohibition bureau, where explosive chemicals are stored. The fire was still blazing at 4 o'clock and firemen were making strenuous efforts to prevent it reaching the chemical storeroom.

Fire chiefs, however, believed that they would have the fire under control within a short time.

The blaze breaking out suddenly on the roof of the historic structure, apparently was started by a gasoline torch of workmen engaged in building another roof on top of the building.

Hundreds of girl clerks rushed out in a panic. Some were scratched and bruised in their frantic efforts to escape.

Clouds of smoke poured forth, the wind sweeping them toward the White House.

The treasury, the vaults of which are packed with millions of dollars of currency and gold and silver bullion, is in the heart of the nation's capital and all the fire apparatus in the city was summoned to the scene.

Members from the burning roof soon began to drop into the large interior court of the building.

At first, firemen had considerable difficulty in getting water to the roof. The tar paper being used to cover the roof seemed to make the fire burn more rapidly.

A huge crowd soon collected and police quickly threw a cordon around the building.

President Harding noticed the blaze from the White House office and went out into the backyard of the executive grounds to watch the efforts of the fire fighters.

The fire quickly ate its way through the new construction on the roof and into a room where valuable blueprints of proposed ex-service men's hospital and other buildings were destroyed.

The loss from this source alone will be several thousand dollars, it was said.

At four o'clock firemen succeeded in getting two streams of water to the blaze but tar paper and other wood was burning.

China Rushes Plans to Be First Nation To Ratify Treaties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — China is to be the first nation to ratify treaties growing out of the Washington conference.

Her cabinet has already passed its approval upon the two treaties in which China was signatory—the Chinese customs tariff and the Chinese general "policy" documents, according to a cablegram received here today from Peking.

The message also said that the president would issue a "presidential mandate" immediately, thus ratifying the treaties.

PROVINCETON, Mass., Feb. 8.—Ten of the crew of the British steamship, Thistlemore, which went ashore on Peaked Hill bar, "the graveyard of Cape Cod," were rescued by means of breeches buoy today.

The Thistlemore was pounding heavily in a raging surf, which, with a northwest gale made the work of rescue difficult. Coast guards believed the vessel will go to pieces.

The steamer carries a crew of fifty-one men and a heavy cargo. The vessel went ashore in a snow squall.

The steamer is only 75 yards from shore.

Mysterious Fire Perils Sailors, Causes Big Loss

SEATTLE, Feb. 8.—Thousands of dollars damage was done and the lives of dozens of sailors were placed in jeopardy this morning when fire of mysterious origin swept the Alaska Steamship company's steamer, La Touche, moored at the Heffernan drydock company.

The steamers, Ketchikan and Redondo were tied up alongside the La Touche and for a time the flames threatened to spread to them and to the wharf.

It was one of the most spectacular fires ever seen on the waterfront here. Red and green flames leaped a hundred feet into the air against a background of inky smoke.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The American delegation to the armament conference today completed its report on the conference to be submitted to President Harding. It is hoped that the report can be transmitted to the president tomorrow.

"30" BULLETINS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—"The entire force of the British empire's secret service will be used to hunt down the murderer of William D. Taylor, slain film director." This statement was made late today by Attorney Roy E. Schauer, counsel for Major Thomas A. Osborne, British counsel at Los Angeles.

LOW-PRESSURE GAS FOR WELL DRILLING

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8.—A test made with eleven low-pressure gas burners at the Bartlesville, Okla., petroleum experiment station has revealed that low pressure gas can be used successfully to generate steam for drilling purposes, says a report from the United States bureau of mines, just received here.

Vast quantities of this low-pressure gas is now being used, the report says.

SEA MYSTERY OF WAR SOLVED AS JAP TEL SEND OF U. S. SHIP

BY CARL D. GROOT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The disappearance of the American naval collier Cyclops may be cleared up in connection with the settling of war claims against Germany, which is to start soon.

This craft put out of Barbadoes nearly four years ago for an American port, since when, nothing definite has been known of her. Today a weird tale of a German or Austrian mother ship as the assassin came to light for the first time from the files of the naval intelligence service.

Seeks Woman Spy

The man who gave the naval intelligence service its report is Lyman Seeley, who lives on the Lumm Island, about 15 miles from Bellingham, Wash. His story runs thus:

A Japanese sailor landing in the island community last summer sought information of a woman—a German courier—of whom Seeley had been supposed to have knowledge. According to the Japanese, the woman and he were aboard the German or Austrian ship, Waiblingen which put out of Austrian waters in the spring of 1918 for the West Indies to act as a mother ship for German submarines there.

The woman had valuable papers of the German government and in some way obtained other important papers which the Japanese was carrying. The Waiblingen, changing her name to read "State of Maine," put in at Gibraltar en route to the Indies.

Strikes German Mine

Arrived at the West Indies, she encountered the electrically driven Cyclops, the strangest ship of its kind in the world, and put off mines, which blew the collier to bits. The explosion also caused the Waiblingen to sink.

The Japanese, the woman and an engineer managed to get into a motor boat before the Waiblingen sank. Off Santiago they were fired on, but the Japanese claimed they made their way to Galveston, Tex. where he lost trace of the other two.

ELEY, KISTNER WILL DRAFT SCHOOL PLANS

T. C. Kistner of San Diego, and Frederick H. Eley of Santa Ana were selected as architects to draw plans for the new school soon to be erected under the recent bond issue, at a meeting of the board of education this afternoon. These men are to confer, and make arrangements for co-operation in designing the buildings.

Eight or ten architects made application for appointment. Among them were Frederick H. Eley and Ray Spangler, Santa Ana; Don Wells, for some years of Imperial Valley, who expects to be permanently located in Santa Ana; Theodore Kistner of San Diego, who constructed the San Juan Capistrano high school; Arthur Munson, Los Angeles, son-in-law of Mrs. L. Anderson, architect in charge of the new hotel building to be erected at Sixth and Main, here; Allison and Allison, Hudson and other architects of Los Angeles.

The resignation of Miss Rosa Clausen, instructor of household arts and sewing at the high school, was accepted. Miss Clausen's successor was not named.

DISCUSS CARE OF SHOCKED VETERANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans' bureau, has invited leading neuropsychiatric specialists of the country to confer here.

The records of the bureau show there are approximately 9,000 ex-service men hospitalized for mental diseases. There also are thousands of beneficiaries of the Veterans' Bureau, but not hospitalized. This hospitalization of such cases will increase materially during the next few years. A large number of these cases are "shell-shock" patients. The effect of the war experiences often does not become apparent until months, sometimes years, have passed.

The question of treatment for that class of cases will be discussed. A question of whether vocational training is feasible is to be determined by medical officers. The type of training best fitted for these patients will be part of the program.

Crew of 'Jinx' Vessel Has Narrow Escape in Flames

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 — Fire, which partly destroyed the former United States transport Northern Pacific off the New Jersey coast, near Cape May early today, was under control this afternoon and chances were said to be excellent for salvaging the vessel.

All members of the crew and four draughtsmen of the Sun Shipbuilding company have been accounted for as safe.

A forty mile gale was blowing about the doomed vessel this morning and she was afire from stem to stern.

The Northern Pacific was used to transport troops from France after the war and on January 1, 1919, went ashore off Fire Island. All the troops were rescued and the vessel was subsequently floated. It was several days before some of the seriously wounded soldiers and their nurses could be taken off.

The Northern Pacific was known as a "jinx" ship. In April, 1915, she was caught and buffeted in a storm off the Pacific coast which imperiled her 150 passengers. The Northern Pacific was built as a passenger express for the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad.

PROSPECTIVE JUROR IN OBENCHAIN CASE OPPOSES WOOLWINE

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—The tedious task of selecting a jury to hear the evidence in the murder trial of Madalene Obenchain occupied the morning session in Superior Judge Reeves' court today.

Mrs. Obenchain is charged with complicity in the murder of her sweetheart, John Belton Kennedy.

Although efforts are being made to rush the selection of jurors, difficulty in obtaining those who have not formed an opinion was experienced owing to the publicity given the case.

B. C. Best of Long Beach was excused this morning on challenge of the defense. George Johnson of Hermosa Beach, also was excused for cause.

Mrs. Grace T. Bishop created a mild sensation in court while being questioned as a prospective juror.

"If my judgment is biased it will be on an unfavorable opinion of the district attorney," said Mrs. Bishop. "If some of the things come up in this trial that Mr. Woolwine is accredited with doing I am afraid it would make an unfavorable impression."

The state indicated that J. D. Kennedy, father of the slain man, would be one of the first witnesses called after the jury is completed. He is known to be an ancient enemy of Madalene and is expected to picture her as a woman scorned.

GARMENT UNION CHARGES NEGRO PROMISES AID TO MINERS

(United Press Leased Wire)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 8.—Moral and financial support of Union Garments Workers of America was offered the United Mine Workers today in their impending wage fight with the coal operators.

Just as the miners' scale committee prepared to meet for formulation of their demands, a letter was received from Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the garment workers, saying his organization "will do all it possibly can to help the miners financially in their struggle against the avarice of the mine owners."

Schlesinger's letter, together with virtual assurances from the railroad workers that they favor an alliance with the miners, will enable the miners to put up a stronger front than ever when their contract expires March 31.

Philip Bell, negro, from Memphis, said he saw a negro arrested at St. Louis, Mo., and lynched. Bell said that the negro had a white French girl and some of the other soldiers were jealous of him.

23 PERSONS MISSING IN BIG HOTEL BLAZE

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 8.—Firemen today searched the smoking ruins of the Hotel Lexington to find trace of the twenty-three persons still unaccounted for in the fire which destroyed the building yesterday.

Three bodies of victims who perished in the fire are in morgues.

Advantages Derived from Reading Advertisements

(A few days ago The Register offered $10 for the best short article giving account of actual experience in benefits derived from reading Register advertisements. The articles submitted in this contest will be published from day to day under this heading.)

Santa Ana, Calif., Feb. 2, 1922

Mr. Editor:—I have just finished reading my evening paper. I like The Register and I can truthfully say that I have been very much benefited through the ads. in The Register. I lost my purse with some money and valuable papers. I found it by putting an ad. in The Register. My granddaughter lost her coat at the Yost theater and I found it by putting an ad. in The Register.

I can say this: We have been benefited very much in selling and buying property through the advertisement in your paper. My husband and I have also been benefited in doing my daily shopping. I have saved on groceries and dry goods by reading the mercantile ads., and am very glad to see them in your paper.

Your truly,

BLAZE CUTS OFF ESCAPE OF MEN AS EXPLOSION RAZES SHAFT

(United Press Leased Wire)
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Feb. 8 — Nine miners were killed and three believed fatally injured in an explosion in the workings of the Marietta Coal company on Pinson creek, Kentucky, according to word here today.

Eight bodies had been removed from the wrecked mine at dawn today and workers were slowly digging their way into the debris where the other bodies were expected to be found. At least one worker was known to be missing.

The explosion occurred when the day shift went into the mine for work today. Fire from the explosion ignited coal dust and gas and a bigger blast followed.

Bodies of the nine miners killed in the blast had been recovered and identified late today. James LeGo and Hobart Burchfield, two of the injured in hospitals here, were not expected to live, while the condition of a third was nearly as serious. Only twelve men were on the shift that was in the mine when the explosion occurred.

Pigeons Robbing Horses and Hogs Of Acorns, Claim

Declaring that wild blue pigeons have proven a pest this year, County Treasurer J. C. Joplin is home from a day at his ranch in Bell canyon.

"They have eaten tremendous quantities of acorns," said Joplin, "and, having about cleaned out the crop, are leaving the canyons."

The wild blue pigeon, believed by Joplin to be a Canadian pigeon, has been coming into the local mountains in the late fall and winter months for years, but never in such quantity as they appeared this year, according to the county treasurer.

"Acorns are eaten by horses and cattle and make a very fine hog food," said Joplin. "Proves of hogs on my place fairly live on acorns. There was an unusually fine crop on the oaks this year, but the pigeons rather than the ranchers got the benefit of them."

These pigeons are protected by law year around.

COMPROMISE HALTS BIG TEUTON STRIKE

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Socialist members of the German government have forced a final compromise with the striking railroad workers and the walkout which paralyzed Germany came to a definite end today. City electrical, water and transportation workers also agreed to return to work, and the German capital, after two terrible days without light or water, was struggling back to normal.

WANTS GUARANTEE IN FORD'S PLANT OFFER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Henry Ford should be forced to supply meat for the government plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, with an absolute guarantee that he will manufacture fertilizer, Secretary of War Weeks today told the house military affairs committee when hearings on the offer started.

"Whether Ford will utilize the power site to make fertilizer is the big question," Weeks declared. "He has not given adequate assurance along that line so far."

ORLANDO MAY HEAD NEW ITALY CABINET

ROME, Feb. 8.—Former Premier Vittorio Orlando, a member of the "big four" during the Paris peace conference, was today asked by King Victor Emmanuel to attempt to form a new Italian cabinet. Signor De Nicola, who had at first been asked, reported to the king that he could not do so.

DENBY URGES ACTION ON NAVY BASE SITES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Secretary Denby sent a letter to the house today asking congress to approve the navy department's selection of three naval bases on the Pacific coast. He recommended acceptance of the site of 5,340 acres at Alameda, Cal., as a base for vessels; 225 acres at San Pedro, Cal., for a submarine base and 400 acres at Sand Point, Wash., as a base for heavier than air naval planes.

Borah Preparing for Bitter Attack On G. O. P. Bonus Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Republican party's bonus plan will be denounced in the senate by Senator Borah, Idaho, as an attempt by the party to buy control of congress in much the same way as it was alleged a single seat was bought in the Newberry case.

Borah will shortly begin a fight on the bonus plan which he intends to carry in characteristic fashion.

In the speech with which he will open his campaign, Borah intends to tell the senate that political expediency and not love for the ex-service men is behind the vociferous support accorded the bonus plan by many members of congress.

HAYS PLANS EARLY VISIT TO FILMLAND

Czar of Movies To Study Life In Hollywood As Result of Many Scandals In Industry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—One of the first official acts of Will H. Hays, czar of the motion picture industry, will be a trip to Hollywood, Calif., according to a close associate.

His present intention is to go to the Pacific coast about April 1 for a month's stay. During that time he will inspect every phase of life in Hollywood to acquaint himself first hand with conditions there. Hays is now in Miami, Fla.

Since the Arbuckle case there has been much talk of the movie industry leaving California and of the establishment of a new "Hollywood" on Long Island. It was learned authoritatively that no such plans are being considered.

Friends of Star Battle to Save Her Reputation

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—A fight to save the professional reputation of Mary Miles Minter, movie star, whose name has been dragged into the William D. Taylor murder mystery, was started today by her friends here.

While police hunted the slayer of Taylor, motion picture magnates determined to preserve Miss Minter's screen popularity, met with attorneys at her home.

Behind drawn curtains, while private detectives stood guard to keep outsiders away, the conference continued during the night and up until an early hour this morning.

Miss Minter has suffered a complete nervous collapse and is in serious condition, according to an unverified report here today. Doctors were said to be in constant attendance on the little star.

Her love letters to Taylor, her friends insisted, were innocently written.

"They were innocent," it was stated, "but they are subject to possible misinterpretation in the hands of the public."

SEEK ESCAPED CONVICT.

FOLSOM, Cal., Feb. 8.—An all-night search conducted by guards of Folsom prison failed to reveal any clue to the whereabouts of Joseph King, convict, who early Tuesday morning made his escape from the state's prison here.

Warden J. J. Smith, however, believes the man is hiding a short distance from the prison. Search continues today.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Trial of H. M. Elreath was set today by Justice J. B. Cox for February 15 at 10 a. m., when he appeared and pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a truck having a flat tire. The charge was filed against McElreath by Motorcycle Officer Vernon Myers.

Advance Theory Slain Movie Man May Have Been Victim of Aphasia

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—The possibility that William D. Taylor was a victim of aphasia was being considered by detectives today as an explanation for the alleged "double personality" angle of the murdered man's mysterious, shrouded past.

Taylor was shanghaied in Lower New York, he had often told friends here. He was carried to Cape Horn, and was unable to work his way back for three months.

Before he was shanghaied and shanghaied, Taylor had a good position and apparently was wrapped up in wife and family. Investigators today expressed belief that the blow he sustained might have caused a loss of memory, accounting for the fact that while he returned to New York he apparently gave no further heed to his wife and baby daughter and never returned to them.

When his brother's wife, Mrs. Ada Deane-Tanner, came to him seeking information as to her missing husband's whereabouts, detectives say they have learned that Taylor insisted to her he had no brother.

"They cannot account for his motive in denying the relationship. He was not trying to hide, they are confident. His image was flashed on the silver sheet from coast to coast and used extensively in advertisements of pictures he produced.

Victims of aphasia, physicians say, adopt any name suggested to them.

They admitted the possibility of a vague memory of his wife and child gradually dawning on Taylor after he had begun life anew on the Pacific coast.

Sheriff's Office to Take Drastic Steps In Probe of Mystery

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Police and county detectives investigating the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery today arrived simultaneously at the conclusion that some veiled agency is suppressing the true facts.

Investigators are meeting with dissimulation on every hand, they said.

A curtain of secrecy, dark, mysterious, its folds enshrouding several of the principal actors in the murder case, is drawn about everything connected with the slain director or his friends.

In the plain statement of the officers, some of Taylor's associates are believed to know more about the murder than they are telling. The reason for the secrecy is attributed to a desire to protect the movie industry from scandal.

Give Up Hope

On the heels of the statements by civil officials that their work was being blocked, investigators associated with the film interests expressed an opinion this afternoon that the murder would go down in history as an unsolved crime.

Sands was promised immunity from the grand larceny and forgery charges now standing against him if he would surrender and definitely confess himself of connection with Taylor's death, in an unofficial statement made by Captain David L. Adams of the police department late today.

Plans Drastic Steps

"We've kind-gloved some of these forgetful ones long enough," an official of Sheriff William I. Traeger's office told the United Press. "We are now going to take steps that may aid them in refreshing their memories."

A bizarre theory of the murder, advanced for the first time today, was under consideration by Traeger's operatives.

It is that Taylor was shot by a woman whom he was embracing and who had her arms around him. The theory is based on the position of the bullet wound in his back and the fact that Taylor is thought to have had his arms raised when he was shot. The gun which killed the director was fired within a few inches of his body.

Quiz Film Magnate

A new figure was drawn within the scope of investigation today, when operatives of the district attorney's office questioned one of the biggest independent figures in the motion picture business, it was learned by the United Press.

This man, recently divorced, was said to have been madly in love with an actress who apparently held Taylor in higher esteem than she did the man now being questioned.

The man under surveillance was the only one of the half dozen biggest men in the picture game in Hollywood who did not attend Taylor's funeral yesterday, investigators said.

He is reported to have proposed

COUNTY WINS NEW BIRCH CASE VICTORY

BLOCK OIL KING IN MOVE AIMED AT RECALLING OWN EXPERTS TO STAND

Orange county's defense against the Birch Oil company's suit to recover approximately $17,000 in taxes, paid under protest for the year 1916-7 scored its second important victory in Superior Judge R. V. Williams' court today when after entangling the plaintiff's star witnesses, it blocked efforts of Birch's attorneys to untangle them.

With this maneuver successfully accomplished the trial took a long step toward its conclusion. The Birch company was expected to rest its case early this afternoon, after calling one more witness, whose absence from court occasioned a short recess during the morning session.

It was not expected that the defense would occupy much time in presenting its case. County officials and members of the 1916 board of supervisors, with one expert witness, were expected to make up the list of witnesses to be called. Proceedings of the supervisors and methods of the assessing and taxing official, to show the regularity of procedure at all stages, chiefly form the case, the rest being up to argument of counsel.

Block Oil Baron
The successful skirmish achieved by District Attorney A. P. Nelson and L. A. West, assistant counsel, was in defeating the plaintiff's attempt to recall expert witnesses to the stand today.

These experts had been summoned by the Birch attorneys, Woodruff and Shoemaker, in their final assault upon the assessment and taxation placed upon the Birch properties by the county.

H. R. Johnson, former government geologist, testified to the valuation of the Birch holdings in 1917, giving his estimate as $530,000. Robert B. Moran, another geologist, valued the property at $400,000.

Nelson and West thereupon called attention to the fact that at the former trial of the suit in 1917, Johnson had fixed the Birch valuation at $430,000, while Moran had judged it to be $230,000.

Defense Scores
Today the plaintiff attempted to recall the geologists to the stand for the purpose of straightening out the testimony, but the defense objected and was sustained by Judge Williams.

On the witness stand, A. Otis Birch head of the company, estimated his company's holdings to be worth $500,000. It was pointed out that in his application for a reduced assessment, made before the supervisors in 1916, he valued the property, for assessment purposes, at $32,000.

Two members of the 1916 board of supervisors are available as witnesses at the present trial. They are F. W. Struck and William Schumacher, a member of the present board. Chairman T. B. Talbert was also chairman at that time but was absent from the proceedings involved in the present suit. H. E. Smith, former supervisor, was chairman pro tem. Jasper Leek, the fifth member of the former board, is now in Oregon.

Duck Dinner and Reunion Feature Celebration Honoring M'Pherson Clan

A duck dinner and family reunion in honor of Mrs. Harriet McPherson Cross, the last member of the original McPherson family in Orange county, was given last night in Anaheim at the home of Mrs. J. Helmsen, on Claudina street.

Mrs. Cross is 78 years old. Mrs. Elizabeth Sanders, 86, another well known pioneer, was unable to attend the gathering because of illness.

The guests included Mrs. Stephen McPherson, William McPherson, Vincent McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jones, Mrs. Eva Reardon, Miss Bessie McPherson, George Cross and others.

Following the dinner, reminiscences were in order and some interesting comparisons were given by those who have seen Orange county develop from a wilderness to one of the most progressive sections in the entire West.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ELECT CLUB MANAGER

With J. Ogden Markel assuming the management of the Santa Ana Knights of Columbus baseball club, the team members today were looking forward to identification of the Knights of Columbus League of Southern California now being organized.

Markel was placed in the position of manager last night at a special meeting of the Santa Ana Knights of Columbus council, when Markel resigned as recording secretary of the council and Alonzo Lopez was elected his successor.

Baseball activities of the council were discussed at some length. Social features of the evening included boxing contests, musical selections by Prof. John Jones and the serving of light refreshments.

ORDERS TITLE ACTION SUBMITTED BY BRIEFS

Brief time was required today for hearing the suit of Andrew Tufts against A. B. Chambers, which came before Superior Judge Z. B. West during a recess in the trial of another civil action.

After hearing the testimony of two witnesses, County Recorder Justine Whitney and M. H. Sinclair, and admitting various documentary evidence in the form of deeds and other papers, the court ordered the case to be submitted on briefs.

The plaintiff was allowed five days to submit such brief, the defense receiving ten days in which to file an answer. An additional five days is granted the plaintiff for rebuttal.

The suit involves a dispute over title to two lots at Huntington Beach.

LOCAL MANAGER WINS AWARD FROM COMPANY

The return of E. C. Bahr, local manager of the National Cash Register company, from a three-week trip to the plant at Dayton, Ohio, revealed the fact that Santa Ana has a member in the National Cash Register company's Hundred Per Cent club.

The honor thus gained for the city resulted in the company giving Bahr, as well as all the other members of the club throughout the country, a trip on a special train as far East as New York.

After hearing prominent Eastern financiers give talks in the country's metropolis, Bahr returned convinced that 1922 will afford marked opportunity for progress and financial prosperity through the East.

Incidentally, Bahr said, the cash register company was one of the few concerns whose business increased in 1921.

"Southern California will continue to be the nation's white spot, despite increased prosperity in the East," Bahr said.

MAN IN 'DREAM WEED' ROBBERY TO BE TRIED

The "dream weed" burglary will come to its final stage tomorrow, when Jose Murrieta, charged with complicity in an attempt to rob the Prince drug goods store at Anaheim of merchandise said to have been worth $5000, goes on trial in department 1 of the superior court before Judge Z. B. West and a jury.

The marijuana, or Mexican "dream weed," subtle agency for criminal inspiration, according to the authorities, who blame it for much of the misdeeds which find their conception amid rosy visions of ease and luxury, found its way into the Murrieta case, thus giving the Anaheim burglary attempt, which was foiled by police interference, its "dream weed" cognomen.

Murrieta may have been dreaming such rose visions as he sat in his car, according to the police theory, where he and his alleged confederates were busy with their looting.

At least, there was known to be a can of the marijuana in his car, despite the law prohibiting its possession or growth.

Captured After Chase
If he was so entranced it must have been a rude awakening when he was forced to take sudden flight without his aides, as the police picture the scene, and later was overhauled in a cloud of dust a mile away by a roaring car bearing Police Officers Moody and Tex Choate, of Anaheim.

Murrieta was the only prisoner taken, three Mexicans who are believed to have been inside of the store having made their escape, abandoning a quantity of loot worth $5,000 outside of the store.

Later Murrieta was said to have confessed to Sheriff C. E. Jackson, naming two of the three alleged confederates as Anton Marriz, of Del Rio, and Mike Rivera, of Garden Grove, both professing ignorance of the third Mexican's name.

Marriz and Rivera had, in the meantime, been arrested by Jackson and Los Angeles officers for the San Diego authorities, who received them into custody on a charge of robbing the Huffman clothing store at Escondido after the Anaheim affair.

Third Man Captured
Taken with them at the time was a third, unnamed Mexican, who is believed to have been the unknown third confederate, said to have been named by Murrieta in his confession.

The three were, at last reports, being held by San Diego authorities, who declined to turn them over to Orange county.

Regardless of his supposed confession, Murrieta pleaded not guilty to the charge of attempted burglary and is preparing to fight prosecution.

E. R. Orfila, Los Angeles attorney, has undertaken his defense.

Murrieta was held to answer in the superior court by Justice J. B. Cox and is now being held in the county jail.

LOCAL MASONIC LODGES WILL ORGANIZE SCOUTS

Plans were made public today for the establishment of a Masonic scout troop, following action taken by the two Masonic bodies of the city.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 241 acted upon the matter at a meeting held last Friday night, and Silver Cord Lodge No. 505 followed suit last night when the members gave favorable consideration to the plan.

George Weitbrecht, 909 Garfield street, has been appointed by the scout commission to the post of scoutmaster, and a troop committee will be appointed in the near future.

Membership in the troop will be open to boys of good character and of the required age (12 years) who are not affiliated with any other troop in the city.

PROMISE SENSATION IN TAYLOR SLAYING

marriage on numerous occasions to the actress.

Still another investigation agency was interesting itself today in the son of a multi-millionaire Eastern family. This young man has also been known in Hollywood for some time as an ardent admirer of the actress whose name is being linked with the Taylor murder investigation.

"Miss Normand has not received the missing packet of letters," this statement by the Mack Sennett studios today disposed of a rumor that the letters and telegrams written by Mabel Normand to William D. Taylor, mysteriously missing since the director's tragic death, had been returned to her during the night.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Doran, intimated that a grand jury quiz into the missing letters might be asked.

Among the telegrams was believed to have been a number sent in an attempt to patch up a disagreement between the friends arising over the fact that the director was bestowing on a third member of the picture colony.

Miss Normand was starring in "The Slim Princess," George Ade's humorous classic, in 1919. It was made at the Goldwyn studios. Victor Schertzinger was Miss Normand's director.

Taylor at the time was directing Mary Miles Minter in "Ann of Green Gables," made in Massachusetts and the New England states.

Miss Normand was under the care of specialists today and was on the verge of a nervous collapse. She fainted over Taylor's casket at his funeral services yesterday and left the church in a hysterical condition.

St. Paul's pro-cathedral was crowded for the funeral and thousands of persons, unable to get in, thronged the nearby streets for a glimpse of the funeral cortege.

Among the floral offerings heaped about the casket was a spray of pink roses bearing the card of Mary Miles Minter, film actress, who has admitted she loved Taylor, and a wreath of roses and lilies from Miss Normand. After the Hollywood body was taken to the Hollywood cemetery and placed in a vault.

The police have been grilling Howard Fellows, Taylor's chauffeur. He said Taylor and Miss Normand quarreled on New Year's eve and that Taylor cried after escorting Miss Normand to her home.

Fellows told police he called Taylor's home on the telephone at 7:55 on the evening of the murder, but got no response. He then went to the house, arriving there at 8:15, rang the bell, but there was no response. He saw a light in the living room.

The chauffeur said he might have been the man seen leaving Taylor's house on the night of the murder.

The district attorney's office has received a letter from a woman scribbling a meeting between two mysterious men, driving two automobiles, at a street corner the night of the killing.

One was heard to say to the other: "Now that we've got him, we're in for it." One of them dropped a strip of film showing the Grand Canyon with the caption "A Deep and Brooding Mystery Seems the Hover Over 'This Great Secret on the Face of Nature.'"

MARY'S FATHER SAYS SHE 'IS ALL RIGHT.'

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 8.—J. Homer Reilly, father of Mary Miles Minter, today read proof of the William Desmond Taylor murder on a Dallas newspaper.

"The little girl is all right; she is not connected with the mystery," is all that he would say.

Mary, whose real name is Juliette Reilly, was born in Shreveport, La., April 1, 1902. She went to New York when she was a little girl and acted with many stage stars. Reilly said he heard from her frequently.

WILL SELECT PLAYER AT FIRST REHEARSAL

Plans for holding the first rehearsal of "The Truth" by the cast of the Community Players, at the high school auditorium tonight, were in no wise affected by the failure to assign the part of Mrs. Crespieny, Ernest Crozier Phillips, director, stated today.

Members of the casting committee, which includes Miss Verna Peterson, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Miss Mary Harris and F. L. Carrier among others, have several in mind, but the decision will not be made until tonight's rehearsal, so that any one caring to appear in a tryout for the part will be given consideration.

Rehearsal will begin at 7 o'clock.

CLASS PREPARES PLANS TO DEFEAT FULLERTON

The Men's Bible class of the First Christian church held its weekly executive meeting and supper last night in the dining room of the church. The members had an enthusiastic meeting and a program designed to put Santa Ana "over the top" in the contest with Fullerton.

Next Sunday morning at 9:30 in the West End theater, Judge W. H. Thomas will give a talk on the class and the plan for the contest.

The class has invited as its guests the force from the court-house and county and city officials, members of the G. A. R. and Masonic and Maccabee lodges.

WILL ASK BOARD TO BUILD HOME FOR WAYWARD

That District Attorney A. P. Nelson is drawing resolutions to be presented to the board of supervisors, asking that body to provide funds for the construction and maintenance of a county parental home on the Orange county hospital grounds, was disclosed today by R. R. Miller, county probation officer, at the meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Trustees of the various schools in the county are being asked to endorse the project, according to Miller.

The information was brought out following discussion of delinquency by children by Miss Bess Henry, director of research work in the Santa Ana schools. Miss Henry gave a most valuable and interesting talk on the causes of delinquency and methods of correction. She declared that failure of parents to give correct supervision is responsible to a large degree for delinquencies.

Constant supervision of the worst of the delinquents, which means twenty-four hour control by the schools, she declared to be imperative. She asserted the delinquency problem was just as great in the schools as outside.

Neal Beisel was chairman of today's luncheon, and F. W. Wieseman was the attendance prize winner.

EXPECT TO COMPLETE ACCOUNT SUIT TODAY

Completion of the trial of a suit brought by Otto E. Linnert of Orange, against Ruth Bowen, of that city, to recover $1,453.11 alleged to be due for alterations on a dwelling, was expected this afternoon in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court.

The defense started presenting its case today after the plaintiff had rested. W. E. Stork and O. E. Linnert were the concluding witnesses for the state.

The first defense witness was Ruth Bowen, who took the stand to testify regarding arrangements made between her and Linnert for the work involved in the present litigation.

LIQUOR CASE HEARING COMES UP TOMORROW

A. G. Deck, of Huntington Beach, will receive a preliminary examination tomorrow at 10 a. m. before Justice J. B. Cox on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The defense started presenting its case today after the plaintiff had rested. W. E. Stork and O. E. Linnert were the concluding witnesses for the state.

'GOB' WHO FLED WRECK TO FACE NAVY CHIEFS?

That George E. Hackenberger, 20, charged here with an attempt to defraud a lodginghouse keeper will be turned over to the naval authorities at San Diego as a deserter, instead of being prosecuted in this county, was indicated today when his preliminary hearing, originally set for today, was postponed by Justice J. B. Cox to February 14 at 3 p. m.

Meanwhile, the local police are in communication with San Diego in an effort to adjust the case before the later date arrives. If Hackenberger is taken over by the naval officials, the charge here will doubtless be dismissed, it was stated.

J. D. Rumbaugh of Santa Ana, filed the complaint against Hackenberger here, claiming that the latter intended to "beat" a board bill for $32. Rumbaugh also gave the clue to Hackenberger's naval record, this latter being corroborated by naval officials.

Hackenberger claimed to have a special discharge from the naval hospital at Balboa Park, San Diego, dated July 5, 1921. It was learned, however, authorities said, that he deserted last October.

Rumbaugh was authority for the statement that Hackenberger disappeared from San Diego after wrecking an ambulance, so that any driving and which contained a patient and a nurse at the time.

TEAM WINNERS DINE AT LOSERS' EXPENSE

Winning a four-week membership contest in the Modern Woodmen lodge, team members captained by H. M. Warwick today were satisfied smiles and a reminiscent look of pleasure whenever any member thought of the oyster supper which was staged at the Rossmore cafeteria last night by the losers, whose captain was Charles L. Tibbets.

Half a hundred men gathered at the Rossmore for the feast, and had the pleasure of being served by the members of the losing team.

As a result of the campaign, sixty new names were added to the roster of the Santa Ana lodge of Modern Woodmen. The contest was conducted under the direction of Councilor G. W. Carey.

Freeman H. Bloodgood,
President, Santa Ana Realty Board

Dear Mr. Bloodgood:

As a recent arrival in Santa Ana I want to ask you a question.

When I see vacant property to sell or lease I notice a number of signs announcing the fact and each sign bears the name of a different Realtor—(a fine word, by the way, that I picked up for the first time out here in California).

The question I want to ask is this: "How am I to know which of these Realtors to negotiate with?" No doubt they are all of them fine, reputable concerns, but without ever having tried any of them I am puzzled.

I suppose you Realtors on your side might feel the same way about such a thing, for instance, as coffee. But then I can solve that problem for you. I was troubled with the same indecision until I came out here and was introduced to "Newmark's". Now I feel that I can ask for "Newmark's" and be sure of getting a coffee unsurpassed in flavor and aroma.

You try "Newmark's" and then one of your problems at least will be solved for all time.

I know after all is said and done, I could pick out any name on these signs and do business with the owner of the name and not make a mistake.

But some coffees are better than others. That's why I mention "Newmark's" to you. "Lots" of prosperity to you all.

Yours truly,

Franklyn Stone

MOVE HEARING DATE TO SIDESTEP HOLIDAY

February 13 being a holiday set aside for the celebration of Lincoln's birthday, which this year falls on Sunday, the case of George Waterman, alias Rhoads, and Cecil Parker, who are charged with stealing a car belonging to Louis Sheats of Tustin, will not come before Justice J. B. Cox for preliminary hearing as scheduled. A continuance was ordered today, the court fixing February 15 at 10 a. m. as the time for the examination.

The boys, each of whom is 18 years of age, were denied consideration in the juvenile court after it was learned that they had misrepresented their ages in claiming to be only 17.

They were arrested in Los Angeles and are now being held in the county jail, unable to post bail.

DEMANDS 'DOPE' BUT GIVEN TERM IN JAIL

Raving and threatening violence unless he was provided with drugs to satisfy his craving, John Patterson, 37, was taken into custody today by the local police and was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail on a vagrancy charge, when he appeared before City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

Patterson appeared at the office of Dr. J. I. Clark and demanded "dope." He was wild-eyed and when refused his demand he became violently agitated and trouble appeared imminent.

Dr. Clark called the police and Officers C. L. Neuschwanger and R. Elliott escorted Patterson into court.

City and County

Many former residents of Wisconsin now living in this county are planning to attend the state's reunion picnic at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Saturday, February 11.

February 11 has been named by the general conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church in which an offering is to be taken in all churches for the relief especially of famine-stricken children of the Near East. Orange county Adventists will join in this movement.

Three new oil wells were started drilling in Orange county during the week ending February 4, according to the bulletin of the department of petroleum and gas, state mining bureau. They are: Dolke-Thames Oil syndicate, in Coyote Hills; Olinda Land company, in Brea-Olinda field; Rhoads Oil company, Huntington Beach.

Lloyd Neal, sachen, and D. R. Woodward, prophet, were installed at the meeting of Osage Tribe No. 166, Improved Order of Red Men, in the lodge rooms here last evening. Mojave tribe, from Los Angeles, conferred the chief's degree on a class of candidates. Refreshments were served, and a social time was enjoyed following the performance of the work.

The Rev. C. A. Buss, state missionary for the California State Spiritualist association, with headquarters in Los Angeles, will deliver an address on "The New Evangel" at Knights of Pythias hall here next Sunday evening. The Rev. Mr. Buss, Mrs. Buss and their daughter, Miss Mabel Buss, are stopping at the Bradley apartments, 402 1/2 North Broadway.

The cigar store at 501 North Main, according to a list of sale on record, has been sold to O. B. Greenwood to H. C. Hall.

Permission was granted yesterday afternoon by the supervisors to Kenneth Morrison, representing the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, for the erection of a tent on the jail grounds on Sycamore street, for use in revival meetings which will open April 9 and continue to May 5 under the direction of Jerry Jeter, community campaigner.

The annual reunion picnic of the Illinois State association of Southern California will be held at Long Beach Saturday, February 11, in Bixby park, providing the weather is good, or in the municipal auditorium, if it is raining.

Dr. George Piness of Los Angeles was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Orange County Medical society held at the Orange county hospital last night. Dr. Piness read an interesting paper on asthma and discussed the methods of treatment of this disease. Between fifteen and twenty Orange county physicians were present. It was announced that the Santa Ana Clinical society would meet at St. Ann's inn next Friday evening at 6:30.

The poultry lecture that J. E. Davis of Los Angeles was to have delivered at Costa Mesa last night was postponed for two weeks.

The junior class at the high school was today under the direction of new officers, following an election yesterday afternoon. Victor Walker was chosen president of the 1923 pupils. The others were: vice-president, Enid Twist; secretary, Pauline Callahan; treasurer, Jeanne Wilson; reporter, Earl Jabs; yell leader, John Bragg.

The Rev. William E. Spicer, of Brea, pastor of the Christian church, and the Rev. D. H. Reid, pastor of the Costa Mesa church, both of whom are ill, due to pneumonia, today at the hour of going to press were reported much improved and every hope was held by the attending physicians for their ultimate recovery.

ARTIST DELIGHTS BY READING OF FAMOUS SPLAY

BY FRANCES DEANER

Under the auspices of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce, last night in the Christian church of Orange and before a large audience, representative of the cultural life of the community, Mattie Taylor Nice, formerly a noted dramatic artist of Connecticut, but who now claims allegiance to Southern California, was heard in a reading of "The Melting Pot," Zangwill's famous drama.

Beautifully gowned in a creation of pale blue charmeuse and beaded lace, at the appointed hour, 7:30 o'clock, Mrs. Nice took her place on the large rostrum in the auditorium of the church and with a brief outline of the drama, entered at once upon the monumental task of delineating the various characters. Absolute informality characterized the presentation, thus keeping in tune with the community spirit that Orange is doing so much to foster through its efficient Chamber of Commerce, of which H. Warren Nice is secretary.

Mattie Taylor Nice is a thoroughly delightful delineator of character types. She possesses a rich, flexible speaking voice which covers a wide range. In her portrayal of the Zangwill characters she carried each one on through the forceful progress of the drama with a surety that made one settle back comfortably with a feeling that the work of even a mediocre playwright would take on a brilliant luster under the spell of her artistry.

In the smashing third-act climax in the scenes between David, Vera and the Baron, Mrs. Nice rose to great historic heights and finally established herself as a reader to be reckoned with in the artistic circles of Orange county.

It would be pleasant to see and hear Mattie Taylor Nice in one of the modern dramas, or better still, in something bearing a lighter vein, for in the character of Vera she gave us flashes of a delicious, light-hearted spontaneity that would dovelight very nicely in a comedy setting. She has a sweet personality and a way with her that should give an added charm to one of Barrie's characters, for instance.

But it was good to see and hear Mattie Taylor Nice in "The Melting Pot." It served to demonstrate her talents as no other medium would, probably, and as an introductory vehicle it portrayed the wide range of her artistry, giving one a comprehensive idea of her ability as a dramatic ability. That her reading was enjoyed and appreciated by a large audience was amply attested in the generous applause throughout the delineation.

During the intervals between the acts, the Misses Leonta Ingle and Josephine Durjan entertained informally with piano and vocal selections.

The officers of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce under whose patronage the reader appeared are:

N. T. Edwards, president; L. F. Coburn, vice president; M. Elitiste, second vice president; F. A. Grote, treasurer; H. Warren Nice, secretary; and John Adams, George L. Bates, L. F. Coburn, N. T. Edwards, M. Elitiste, L. W. Evans, Oscar Gurn, Fred A. Grote and Henry Meehan, directors.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND DESERTED HOME AND HER ON ANNIVERSARY

Cyrus W. Field lived with his wife, Mary J. Field, for more than a quarter of a century, then deserted her, according to her suit for divorce, on file today in the superior court here. They were married at Toledo, Ohio, August 15, 1889. It was on the eve of their 27th wedding anniversary, August 12, 1917, that the alleged desertion occurred. There are no children, nor is there community property.

Failure to provide is also stated as grounds for suit. Mrs. Field is represented by Attorney S. M. Davis.

LOCAL RAINFALL ADDS TO JOYS OF RANCHER

Sugar beet growers and other Orange county ranchers today were greatly heartened by the beneficial rainfall which was general throughout the county last night. Rain started falling in Santa Ana and vicinity shortly after dark and continued fairly steadily until daylight. There were intermittent showers during the day.

At Huntington Beach, where the rainfall was the heaviest, 91 of an inch was reported, while the lowest figure reported was at the Anaheim sugar factory, where the rainfall was .46.

At Placentia the figures for the storm were .61 of an inch and the total rainfall for the season was 14.90 inches. At Yorba Linda the season's total was brought up to 15.93 inches. The San Joaquin Fruit company reported .74 of an inch for the storm and 12.83 inches for the season.

The rainfall figures reported were as follows:

Market News

United Press Leased Wire

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Ralls got into high ground on the move on the New York stock market today, but the industrial list turned reactionary during the afternoon. Studebaker had its usual spurt early in the day but most of this gain was wiped out during the last hour. Steel Common sold off a point and the independent steel shares also worked lower.

Copper stocks were steady. Many copper companies are preparing to resume, but the impression that production will jump up to normal in a short time is all wrong. Production will be limited to consumption requirements. By June certain copper stocks will be about as low as they have been in many years, and the important mines may be operating fifty percent of capacity by that time. A substantial increase in output in the last half of the year would find copper output well up to normal by January 1, 1923.

Sterling exchange set into new high ground on this movement and this influenced other exchanges. Call money was five per cent.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices included:

U. S. Rubber, 52 1/2 off 7-8; U. S. Steel, 86 1/2 off 1-2; Crucible, 61 1/2 off 1-2; Gulf States, 74 1/2 off 1-2; Baldwin, 191 1/2 off 1-2; American Petroleum, 114 7/8 off 1; Asphalt, 60 1/4 off 1/4; Studebaker, 55 1/8 off 5-8; Chandler, 54 1/4 off 1/4; American Smelters, 71 1/2 off 1; St. Paul, preferred, 35 1/4 off 1/4; New Haven, 17 7/8 off 1/4; Reading, 73 1/4 off 1/4; Northern Pacific, 73 1/2.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—The poultry market was very slow today with stocks steady. Accumulating Leghorn hens, colored hens and old roosters were not in good demand. Broilers and fryers, however, were scarce and demand seemed equal to the supplies at hand.

Lettuce was mostly small, and retailers were demanding larger sizes. There seemed to be an oversupply of tomatoes. Two crates of strawberries arrived from Imperial Valley and sold at $7.00 a crate.

Supplies Light: Pineapples, cauliflower, good celery, mushrooms.

CITY WILL MAKE NO DEFENSE IN WATER CASE

With several legal impediments in evidence and possible financial outlay which immediate results will not justify, decision has been made by the city council not to answer protests against its petition to the water commission for certain water rights in Santiago creek and canyon. It was announced today by Clyde Bishop, special city counsel.

Decision was made at a conference held in Bishop's office yesterday afternoon.

The city has filed with the commission a petition for the right to conserve the run-off waters of the Santiago creek for use of the city at some future date. Protests were filed by the Serrano Water company, of Villa Park; the John T. Carpenter Water company, which supplies El Modena, and the Irvine company, which also uses a portion of the water of the stream for irrigation purposes.

The commission set February 10 as the final date upon which Santa Ana may answer the protests. The council and the legal adviser have decided to throw themselves upon the mercy of the commission, and if it sees fit to dismiss the filing, there will be no attempt on the part of Santa Ana to fight the action, it is said.

As tentatively planned, Santa Ana proposed an impounding reservoir with a capacity of 13,000,000 gallons, and later to supply water to the city by a gravity system. Execution of the plans were not contemplated for some years, and the fact that it would be necessary to expend a large sum of money in the next few years it was deemed best to let the project drop for the present.

TO POSTPONE RALLY OF C. E. WORKERS IF WEATHER INCLEMENT

The Christian Endeavor rally, scheduled for next Friday evening at Huntington Beach will be postponed if it rains at that time, according to announcement today.

In order to avoid a conflict in dates the rally scheduled for Friday at Placentia has been postponed until a week from that time.

In spite of the rain a successful meeting was held last evening in the community house of the First Christian church here. More than sixty representatives of the ten Christian Endeavor societies of Santa Ana and Tustin were present and enjoyed a program arranged by Miss Etta Conkle, vice-president of the Christian Endeavor county union. Charles E. Fuller of Placentia, county president, also was in attendance.

GEORGE CLAUSEN IS PAID FINAL TRIBUTE HERE

Funeral services were held today at the Mission Funeral home on Mills and Winbigler for George Clausen, 60, furniture dealer, who died at his home here last Sunday.

"George Clausen was more than a man of fine business honesty," said the Rev. John Oliver, pastor of the First Methodist church, who officiated at the funeral. "He believed in morality and righteousness for righteousness sake."

"Moreover, he believed that it was the bounden duty of a man to work for his family and for others, rather than for himself. He lived a frugal life, not because he was narrow, but because he wanted to provide for the future of his loved ones. His religion was the best possible religion. It was a practical, every-day affair, based upon the law of love and righteousness."

Maurice Phillips, who conducted the song service, touched the hearts of those present when he sang "Nearer, My God to Thee," and "Abide With Me."

The pallbearers were E. E. Vincent, John A. Harvey, Russell Peterson, J. Peterson and Messrs. Ruitzel and Johnson. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

PROBLEMS IN MEXICO TO BE TOLD AT MEET TONIGHT AT CHURCH

An interesting and enlightening address is to be given this evening at a church night affair in charge of the young folk, at the First Methodist church. The speaker is to be the Rev. Raymond Carhart, son of the Rev. A. E. Carhart of 611 Orange avenue.

The Rev. Raymond Carhart has been a Methodist missionary and educator in Mexico for the past fifteen years. About three weeks ago he arrived from Mexico City, and is at the home of his father here. He is now on furlough. The subject tonight will be "Problems in Mexico."

Dinner is to be served in the church dining-room at 6:15 tonight, and the address will follow the dinner.

HERE'S RECIPE FOR 'SOFT HONEY CAKE'

In furtherance of the statewide observance of "Honey Week," officially declared by Governor W. D. Stephens, officials of the California Honey Producers' Co-operative exchange today called the attention of Orange county housewives to a number of recipes to be used for the remainder of the week.

For today, the recipe for soft honey cake, which may be made as follows:

Soft Honey Cake
One-half cup butter; 1 cup honey; 1 egg; 1-2 cup sour milk; 1 teaspoon soda; 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon; 1-2 teaspoon ginger; 4 cups flour.
Rub the butter and honey together; add the egg well beaten, then the sour milk and the flour sifted with the soda and spices. Bake in a shallow pan.

ITALY PRESENTS WAR MEDAL TO HOLDERMAN

Another war medal—the fifth—has been pinned upon the breast of Captain Nelson M. Holderman, Santa Ana, a hero of the Lost Battalion.

This award is the Italian War Cross.

Six months ago, for gallantry in the stand of the Lost Battalion, Holderman was awarded the highest American military award, the Congressional Medal of Honor. Before his return to the United States from France in 1919, Holderman was presented by the French with a Croix de Guerre for unusual bravery exhibited in the Argonne in encouraging his company to hold a difficult position under terrific fire—this incident in Holderman's career bears a date several days in advance of the separation of the battalion from the main line—and with a Croix de Guerre for leading a sortie to clean out Germans who had occupied barbed wire lines on one side of the battalion. In France, too, Holderman was presented with the American Distinguished Service Cross, for his part in the fight of the battalion.

Two Italian war crosses were presented at the Presidio. One went to Holderman and the other to Sergeant Philip H. Katz, San Francisco, who was with the 363rd Infantry.

The Italian decoration was pinned on Captain Holderman and Sergeant Katz in the presence of assembled troops on the Presidio parade ground by Colonel Allen Smith jr., who officiated in the absence of Major General Chase W. Kennedy, commander of the post.

The decorations were sent from the war department at Washington on behalf of the Italian government. Holderman, now a captain in the regular army, is stationed at the Presidio.

SEEK L. A. RUNAWAYS.

Alvah Eaton, 13, and Philip Clark, 15, were being sought by the local authorities today on request of the Los Angeles police, as runaways. They left their homes in Los Angeles Monday noon, the matter being reported here late yesterday. A description was given of the two lads, who were believed to have started toward Santa Ana.

ASK BEACH POLICE TO ASSIST IN SEARCH FOR MISSING SCHOOL GIRL

Long Beach and San Pedro police today were asked to assist Fullerton officers in the search being conducted for Miss Rhoda N. Dearman, 15-year-old Olinda high school student, who has been absent from her home since last Friday, according to A. L. Eells, city marshal of Fullerton.

Eells said he had learned that Miss Dearman had been corresponding with a sailor, known as "Nave," but so far as he had been able to learn she was not with this man at the time of her sudden disappearance from Fullerton. Miss Dearman confided to a girl friend at the Fullerton high school, where she was a student, that she intended to spend a day or two with a friend, Eells said.

Her parents knew nothing of this friend, Eells asserted, and have received no word from the missing girl. Santa Ana and Anaheim police were asked to aid in the search.

MASONS DECIDE ON IMPROVEMENT PLAN

Plans for making additions and improving the old fire hall, now occupied by The Daily News, will be carried out by the Masonic Temple association, according to announcement today, following the annual meeting of the stockholders of the association at the temple last night.

The board of directors will meet as a committee of the whole and go over the building to decide the extent of improvements to be made. Later the building operations will be delegated to a committee, which will be empowered to employ an architect. Tentatively it is planned to extend the building to the rear, to a height of two stories.

The following were elected directors, with the board later organizing: L. F. Harvey, president; Marshall Keeler, vice-president; G. A. Whidden, secretary; E. B. Smith, Max Reinhaus, E. B. Trago, F. W. Mansur.

George E. Peters was elected treasurer.

TO TERMINATE INTEREST

DEATH BLOW TO RULE ON FRUIT BRINGS MEET

Interest of Orange county citrus men was centered today on a meeting of county horticultural commissioners being held in Los Angeles this afternoon, called by order of G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture.

The Los Angeles conference was a direct result of Judge Rex B. Goodcell's decision yesterday in the San Bernardino county superior court that there can be no prosecution for refusal of shippers of oranges to observe the rules of the state department of agriculture. This ruling, it was explained, caused shipping restrictions to revert to the statute of 1915, which prohibits shipment of fruit showing marked dryness. Citrus authorities, however, maintain that the earlier statute is extremely indefinite, and therefore without material value in the present emergency.

The situation is described by Hecke as serious, that official declaring that co-operation by the growers is necessary to prevent the Eastern markets from being flooded by a product that will not be satisfactory to the consumer. "I expect that we will continue to take other factors into consideration," said Hecke, "besides dryness, but under Judge Goodcell's ruling, dryness must be the basis of all inspection."

In state restrictions as promulgated by Hecke's department, the inspection was based on "water-soaked appearance showing on two or more segments, or the presence of crystals or a crystalline deposit on two or more segments."

A statement by Attorney G. W. Hellyer, Los Angeles, who represented the growers who contested the Hecke regulation, said that "fruit may now be shipped entirely without inspection by the state agricultural department, and the only inhibition is that it shall not have the dryness inhibited by the 1915 act."

Betrothals
Weddings
Receptions*Santa Ana Woman's Club
Celebrates Birthday With Happy Affair

Monday, February 6, will go down in the history of the Santa Ana Woman's club, as a very happy birthday indeed, celebrating as it did, the twenty-second anniversary of the founding of the club.

In recognizing the importance of the day, an elaborate luncheon was held at St. Ann's Inn where members and guests to the number of fifty, were entertained.

In clever effect, the club colors of purple and white were used in the decorations, white hyacinths and violets being used in profusion with quantities of ferns and greenery. Even the beautiful birthday cake bore the same royal note of purple on its white surface.

Three long tables were spread in the cheery dining-room, and there the guests gathered for the enjoyment of the delicious four-course luncheon.

Dainty place cards bearing purple violets in a water color design, indicated the places for the guests, and were the work of clever Miss Dorothy Pease, grand-daughter of Mrs. Henry Diehrs, one of the prominent club members.

Mrs. C. T. Wells, president of the club, dispensed the duties of hostess in her own charming manner, while Mrs. L. D. Mills acted as toastmistress most skillfully, calling first upon Mrs. B. Uttley who responded very cleverly to the toast, "Looking Backward."

Dr. Evaline Peo then dipped into the future and predicted what the club would be in 1944, in responding to "Looking Forward."

An entertaining outline of what woman's club has accomplished and a sketch of their history was given entertainingly by Mrs. C. F. Crose who responded to the toast "Woman's Clubs," after which Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh gave an interesting synopsis of the founding of the Santa Ana Woman's club, February 7, 1900, by a group of seven enthusiastic women.

The men who were guests of the club at the luncheon, were called on for extemporaneous remarks, and responded in a very witty and pleasing manner, reminding the members that "Brevity is the soul of wit."

Mrs. C. T. Wells delighted her audience by reading the following clever, original poem dedicated appropriately, "To Our Dear Club Mother, Mrs. Mills."

"1900—22 Years Ago
"The organized club today,
"It was Mother Mills who spoke,
"The Woman's club has come to stay
"My prophecy's no joke!"

"Club sisters, mother dear,
"How many may you be?"
"How many? seven in all," she said
"And wondering looked at me.

"But we shall grow," the mother said
"And prosper and increase,
"By many tactful officers led,
"We'll march to victory."

1922
"How old is your club today, Mother Mills?
"How many may you be?"
"How many? Fifty-five," she said
"And wondering, looked at me.

Following this reading, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, Mrs. Harry Hays gave two beautiful solo numbers while Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. W. H. Crose sang two duets very charmingly. Miss Carrie Seaton acted as accompanist for the vocalists, her splendid technique and musical ability adding greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon's program.

Other features of the program were Mrs. Victor Montgomery, district chairman of California history and landmarks, who gave graphic description of the early history of the state, speaking particularly of the missions; and Mr. Frank Ey who supplemented her talk by a reference to the establishing of the state highway and the placing of the bells along "el Camino Real."

Enjoy Detroit Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Holmes, of 1104 North Main street, had the pleasure of a brief visit from old friends of Detroit, Minn., in the person of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wackman, who are touring California and stopped in Santa Ana for a few days, en route to Seattle and Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Wackman are enjoying for the first time, the experience of gathering roses in mid-winter, from bushes growing in the great outdoors, and were enthusiastic in their statements that roses are to be preferred to icebergs.

Like all good Californians, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, while retaining a loyal love for their home state, yet are anxious that their friends and relatives may appreciate California, and are hoping that Mr. and Mrs. Wackman may become so enamored of the country that they will return to make it their permanent home.

Birthday Is Celebrated
By Merry Dinner
Surprising Host

In celebration of the birthday of her husband, William H. Maag, Mrs. Maag entertained with a delightful turkey dinner at their Orange home of Monday evening, when a group of the younger married set, gathered to extend congratulations to their surprised host.

Carrying out a French decorative effect, Mrs. Maag used crystal baskets filled with pink and lavender sweet peas, while crepe paper in the same effective coloring was used in festoons, and the dainty nut cups were likewise of the prevailing tints.

A delicious dinner was served in courses and at its close the evening was devoted to 500, in which prizes were awarded Mrs. Arthur Carothers and Anthony Adams, while consolation prizes went to Mrs. Willard Swartout and Bruce Dixon.

One of the entertaining features of the evening was the formality with which the men guests pretended to invest the occasion. Acting upon a concerted plan, they gave the impression that they were expecting a strictly formal social function and all came in correct evening clothes, and maintained a certain dignity until the merriment became so great that they were forced to relax and join in the fun.

Mr. Maag was presented with a handsome gold in laid and carved cigarette humidor by the guests, who included:

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Winbiger, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Swartout, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marsile, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carothers, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dixon, who came from their Colton home for the affair.

February Bride Showered by Friends

Among the many pretty pre-nuptial affairs given for Miss Elma Cock, who recently became the bride of William Elmsley of Huntington Beach, none was more charming than the tea with which Mrs. Clarence Nisson of Tustin, entertained a few days ago.

The guests were close friends and neighbors of the honoree and responded to the suggestion from their hostess that they make it a miscellaneous shower, with a large number of lovely gifts.

The manner in which these were presented was most attractive, Arthur and Richard, the two young sons of Mrs. Nisson, came in the room with their toy express train, following an announcement from the hostess that the paper declared showers were to be expected any minute. The showers thus arrived by express, for the train was laden with fascinatingly wrapped and tied packages which were showered on Miss Cock.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to hemming tea-towels provided by the hostess and these were added to Miss Cock's stores.

Presiding at the tea tables were Mrs. L. A. Cock and Mrs. M. Nisson, while the dainty wafers and confections served buffet style with the fragrant tea, were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, Miss Gertrude Montgomery and Miss Fanny Carver of Dallas, Texas.

The engagement of Miss Turton to Milton Blocker, of Sioux City, Iowa, was announced recently, and the marriage will be an event of the near future, and one in which Monday's hostess, Mrs. John Turton, feels a very personal interest as she and Mr. Blocker are sister and brother.

Bride-to-be Honored With Delightful Shower

Many attractive pieces of aluminum ware fell to the lot of Miss Myrtle Turton when she was honored with a pleasant shower Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Turton, 1045 West Chestnut street.

The evening was spent in games of appropriate nature, and music added to the enjoyment of the occasion for the fifteen girl friends of the honoree.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Meeting in M. W. A. hall Monday night, the Neighbors of Woodcraft held a most enjoyable gathering which was largely distinguished by the installation of officers for the coming year.

These were inducted into office by Mrs. Annie Westlake and were as follows: Past guardian neighbor, Mrs. Mary Kaneen; guardian neighbor, Mrs. Grace Iredale; advisor, Mrs. Cora Hendrickson; banker, Mrs. Bertha Morrison; clerk, Mrs. Isabel Gibson; magician, Mrs. Annie Westlake; attendant, Wallace Gibson; inner sentinel, Charlie Barman; managers, Mrs. Metta McBride and Mrs. Sarah Hauke.

At the completion of the ceremony, refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

Hostesses Entertain
With First of Series Of Smart Bridge Affairs

Opening with the first of a series of smart affairs, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tubbs last night entertained a group of friends at bridge at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Timmons, 2069 North Main street.

The nearness of the Valentine season lent its charm to the decorations for the happy affair which found an attractive setting in the heart decked rooms of the Timmons home. Vivid red cyclamen formed the floral motif, while the card tables bore red candles in attractive candle sticks each bearing a flaring bow of gay red tulle.

Score cards carried the idea further and were pretty red hearts. Bridge formed the evening's amusement, and prizes were awarded on a joint summing up of the scores of husband and wife.

This resulted in the head prize of a pot of blooming cyclamen being bestowed on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kendall, while Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs Jr. was awarded the consolation of a pair of beautiful pongee handkerchiefs, one for Mr. Jacobs, and a dainty, feminine one for Mrs. Jacobs.

True to the duties as hosts, Mr. Timmons and Mr. Tubbs aided the hostesses in serving the delicious pumpkin pie with whipped cream, cheese balls and confections which formed the delectable refreshments to go with the salted nuts in little red nut cups.

The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames Willard Nelson, Henry Lockett, Anthony Adams, J. J. Crookshank, Lester Carman, Harry Matthews, Charles Swanner, J. W. Tubbs, Horace Stevens, Dean Colver, Nelson Edgar, George Briggs, Charles Kendall Jr., Robert Paine Jr., Clyde Whitney, John Jacobs Jr., Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood, Miss Louise Tubbs and Dixon Tubbs.

Mrs. Timmons and Mrs. Tubbs will follow yesterday's delightful function with a bridge luncheon to be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock and a bridge tea scheduled for the afternoon of February 14, invitations for which were issued a week or more ago.

Popular Couple Surprised On Wedding Anniversary

When Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Leonard of West Orange drove into Santa Ana Monday forenoon to attend to some business, they gave little, if any, thought to the fact that the day marked the fifteenth milestone of their wedded life.

But some of their friends were more mindful of the day and went to the Leonard home expecting to surprise them, but unexpectedly found the house empty.

Nothing daunted, they took possession of the place and prepared a sumptuous chicken dinner which was just ready to serve when Mr. Leonard and his wife returned, making it a really and truly surprise.

The table was set with complete set of new dishes which the guests had brought as a present to the honorees. Of course the guests knew that the gift should have been of crystal, but they also knew that Mrs. Leonard would be more pleased with a nice set of china.

The table was further decorated with yellow and white flowers and the following relatives of the "bride and groom" did full justice to the dinner: Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ward, Miss Edith Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Minter, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Minter, Miss Claudine Minter, Mr. Albert Reynolds, Mrs. William Todd and the bride and groom.

When the bus arrived from school, even children were then served. The afternoon was spent by the ladies in pleasant chat over their fancy work while the men enjoyed the pleasant chat without the fancy work.

Modern Poetry

When members of the Modern Poetry section met yesterday afternoon at the delightful home of Mrs. Jack Olivari, 306 Orange avenue, it was for the purpose of discussing the life and works of Robert Frost.

Mrs. Olivari and Mrs. Mark Lacy were joint hostesses for the pleasant afternoon which opened with a sketch of the life of the poet, given most entertainingly by Mrs. F. D. Hawkinson.

Following the biographical sketch, Mrs. Ray Atkinson gave a number of representative selections from Frost's verse, among them being "The Birch," "Home Burial," "The Death of the Hired Man," "The Road," and "Not to Keep."

This paved the way for an interesting discussion of the poet and his various verses, in which all the members took part.

Mrs. Olivari and Mrs. Lacy served appetizing dainties to their guests, during this spirited discussion, which added physical food to that mental food which they were enjoying.

The program for the remainder of the year was announced at this time, and the different poets to be studied will be as follows:

March 7, Alfred Noyes, presented by Mrs. A. P. Nelson and Mrs. F. C. Rowland; April 4, Rupert Brooke, by Mrs. Harwood Sharp and Miss Mabel Whiting; May 2, Edgar Lee Masters, by Mrs. Marvin Morrison and Mrs. Jack Olivari; June 6, John Masefield, by Miss Jennie Lasby and Mrs. Mark Lacy.

Those who were present yesterday afternoon included Mesdames Ray Atkinson, J. F. Doyle, F. D. Hawkinson, Mark Lacy, Marvin Morrison, E. M. Nealley, A. P. Nelson, Robert Northcross, Jack Olivari, F. C. Rowland, Albert Zaiser, C. M. Rowland, Ralph Meade, Harwood Sharp, S. M. Davis, and the Misses Jennie Lasby, Mabel Whiting and Beulah May.

Double Ring Service
Unites Young Couple at Charming Home Ceremony

The beautiful double ring service was chosen by Miss Alma Cock of Tustin and Mr. William Alexander Elmsley of Huntington Beach, at their wedding on Friday night, February 3, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cock.

Only a few close friends and the members of the family were present at the pretty ceremony, which was read by the Rev. William S. McDougall of the Tustin Presbyterian church, at 6:30 in the evening.

Miss Cock wore her traveling suit, a smartly tailored blue Poiret tulle, and was attended by Miss Gertrude Linsenhard as maid of honor, while her brother, Howard Cock attended Mr. Elmsley as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left by motor for a brief trip ending at Huntington Beach where Mr. Elmsley is in the hardware business and where they will establish themselves in an attractive home.

Mr. Elmsley's parents are in South Africa where his father is a medical missionary located in the interior.

Mrs. Elmsley, as Miss Cock, completed the grammar grades of Tustin schools and then attended Santa Ana high school, later to take a course in nursing at the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles, from which institution she graduated a little over a year ago.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cock, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cock, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cock, of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cock, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cock, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Eggart of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Grant and their two daughters of Artesia, Miss Jessie Campbell, Miss Gertrude Linsenhard and Mr. Howard Cock.

To Take New Position

Mrs. Olive Lopez has severed her connection with The Register, after eight years' service in various capacities.

She will be manager for the Mutual Range and Cattle Syndicate for Southern California, a company which has a unique plan of re-stocking the big grazing ranges of the counties north of San Francisco.

Mrs. Lopez will have a temporary office at her home, 517 North Van Ness avenue.

Parent-Teachers

Announcement was made today that the regular meeting of the high school auxiliary of the P. T. A. which was to have been held Thursday, February 9, has been postponed two weeks and will be held Thursday, February 23.

SPEAKER FAVORS CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBT

"Europe cannot pay her war debts to the United States," declared the Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, pastor of the First Congregational church at Long Beach, speaking on "Europe" before the members of the local Congregational brotherhood and women guests last evening.

"Since this is true, I maintain that it would be the wisest, sanest, most statesmanlike action possible to cancel them."

Dr. Booth's address followed a dinner served by the women of the church. Retiring president, Dr. F. W. Slabaugh presided. Langley's orchestra furnished several musical numbers. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh rendered a Spanish song, and responded with an encore. Maurice Phillips sang two solos.

C. S. Crookshank was elected president and Fred Eley secretary, following a report for the nominating committee by C. H. Chapman.

"Europe doesn't love the United States," Dr. Booth contended. He made his statements as the result of observations during his trip last summer, when following attendance at the International Rotary convention at Edinburgh, Scotland, he toured Europe and the Near East.

"During my stay in England I was impressed with the sturdiness of the Briton. It is easy to see why he controls so much of the world. The spirit of the Rotary convention was a note of hope for a closer union of the English-speaking peoples, not for Anglo-Saxon supremacy, but as the only possible basis for a change in the world situation. If harmony between these peoples with similar languages and tastes is impossible there is little hope for the world."

ELKS BOARD ACCEPTS IMPROVEMENT PLANS

Plans of W. W. Kays for improvements and alterations to be made in the lodge room of the Elks had the official endorsement today of the board of directors and a committee of the Elks Building association.

Plans were submitted last night by three architects and Kays was selected as the official architect. The estimated cost of the improvements under Kays' drawing is $18,000.

Approval of the plans will be asked of the stockholders of the association at a special meeting to be held at the lodge room next Tuesday evening.

The full board of directors and all the members of the committee were present last night to consider and decide on the plans to be accepted.

The directors are Walter Eden, president; W. W. Wasser, secretary; J. Fred Parsons, P. G. Beissel and Dr. V. A. Rossiter. The committee members are Fred Ross, W. C. Jerome, E. V. S. Pomeroy, H. A. Gardner and S. M. Reinhaus.

BEET GROWERS URGE MORE DEPARTMENTS

Resolutions advocating the establishment of beet growers' departments in all farm bureau districts which include beet land, and a petition to the United States department of agriculture requesting experts to perform research work on beet production, were formulated at the conference of Orange, Ventura and Los Angeles county beet men held yesterday in Los Angeles.

The growers recommended that all farm bureau beet growers' departments be heartily supported. The petition to the United States agricultural department asked that funds for the research work be included in the next budget.

Request for advice was also sent to the state agricultural department and to the field service of the sugar factories.

Farm advisor H. E. Wahlberg, Secretary R. D. Flaherty, M. Chumli and F. C. Plavan represented Orange county at the Los Angeles meeting.

DENTISTS HERE TALK BY SANTA ANA MAN

Dr. H. A. Stryker of this city, was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Dental association held at Orange last night. Dr. Stryker discussed in detail orthodontia and allied subjects. Dr. M. M. Menzies presided. Women of the auxiliary of the Orange post of the American Legion served dinner.

More than twenty Orange county dentists attended the meeting and plans were discussed for the installation of a booth to represent this organization at the convention of the National Dental association, to be held in Los Angeles next summer.

The Orange county dentists would equip this booth in an attractive manner and oranges and orange juice would be dispensed to the delegates and visitors.

ANAHEIM CITRUS MAN SEVERELY INJURED IN COLLISION WITH TRAIN

F. G. Lehmer, Los Angeles resident, owner of two Valencia groves in the Anaheim district, was in the Anaheim sanitarium today receiving treatment for a dislocated shoulder, cuts on the face and numerous body bruises, the result of being struck yesterday evening at 6:30 by a gasoline motor on the Southern Pacific at the Lincoln avenue crossing, Anaheim.

Lehmer was en route to his home in Los Angeles at the time of the accident, the railway car striking his automobile and dragging it a distance of 300 feet.

REFUSE TO TAKE REBATE CHECKS FROM COUNTY

The story about the man who stood on a street corner and tried to give away genuine gold coins, but met refusal from a suspicious public, used to sound improbable to County Treasurer J. C. Joplin. But now he takes it as gospel truth.

Joplin has found that, although the public may always be looking for "something for nothing," it will not accept it when offered. Long experience, perhaps, has bred too much disbelief in such miracles of the present age.

At any rate Joplin knows that the gold coin story was not a bit overdrawn. Every mail brings him fresh evidence.

A few days ago it developed upon the county treasurer to mail rebate checks to various county tax-payers, who had been over-taxed on personal property through error. More than 2,000 such checks were mailed, refunding to the taxpayers a total of approximately $12,000.

Shortly after they were mailed Joplin began receiving inquiries from puzzled taxpayers. Some returned the checks, with checks of their own, covering the amount for which their check was written, evidently thinking they were being presented with a bill for additional taxes.

Joplin published an explanation of the rebate checks, but the ordinary person is hard to convince that something is coming in instead of everything going out.

The rebate checks are still being returned by incredulous tax-payers at the rate of approximately 50 checks each day.

It is easy to spend money but you simply can't give it away, Joplin contends.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED AT BALBOA

Newport Beach police authorities bagged a portable supply of liquor, apparently ready for distribution, when they apprehended Frank Spencer, who was held in the county jail today under $300 bail, while awaiting trial February 9 before City Recorder Byron Hall, of Newport Beach.

City Marshal J. A. Porter and Deputy Marshal Joel Wilson evidently nipped a budding bootleg business when they arrested Spencer in Balboa last evening. They found a pint bottle said to contain a grape brandy on his person and a dozen more such bottles packed in a small hand satchel.

Spencer was arraigned on a charge of transporting liquor, Recorder Hall setting his trial and fixing bail. The case will be prosecuted under the new liquor ordinance adopted by Newport Beach last November.

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair
35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff,
Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthful, bright, lustrous, and just twice as abundant.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR MERGER OF LAUNDRIES

Directors of the Santa Ana Steam Laundry company today had authority of the stockholders to consider consolidation of the local plant with the Southern Service company, which is operating a chain of fourteen laundries in the Southland. The authority was given at the annual meeting of stockholders held yesterday afternoon in the gold room at James' cafe. Membership of the board of directors was increased from five to seven.

Fred E. Whyte, general manager of the Southern Service company, met with the stockholders and presented an outline of the operations of his company and plans for merging the local plant into his company. He said that his company contemplated the institution of a "new way" laundry in this city, but preferred consolidation if such a plan could be carried out. His company would buy only the operating plant and not the real estate holdings. He has tentatively agreed that should negotiations be successful his company will take over the three lots recently purchased by the local laundry as a site for a new plant.

Consolidation would mean removal of the plant from the corner of Broadway and Fifth streets. It was the opinion of many of the stockholders that consolidation would be an advantage to the company. The service company would issue preferred stock in its company in lieu of Santa Ana Steam Laundry stock in proportion to the value of the property taken over.

Should the directors and the service company agree on value of the local plant and decide to conclude negotiations, ratification by the stockholders would be necessary.

In the election of directors, the old board was re-elected, consisting of G. W. Minter, W. A. Huff, H. C. Moberly, M. Nilsson and W. B. Williams. The two new members are A. C. Bowers and D. C. Campbell.

PASSENGERS IN DARK AS TO TRAIN MISHAP

Santa Fe passenger train No. 79, en route from San Diego to Los Angeles, was delayed several hours one mile south of Santa Ana early today when an engine journal crystallized and dropped the tender from the rails to the cross ties.

The train, which left San Diego at 2:40 a. m., was due here at 4:20. The equipment consisted of nine coaches including several Pullman cars, but no one was injured, according to Santa Fe officials here.

A wrecking crew, hastily summoned from San Bernardino, arrived at the scene of the wreck shortly after 6 a. m., and the engine was removed from the damaged tender.

Conductor Dan Walsh, in charge of the train, said that the engineer stopped his train as soon as the axle broke and few of the passengers knew of the occurrence.

Aside from delaying the south-bound morning train a few minutes the derailment caused no other serious interruption to traffic. Mail from Southern points reached the Santa Ana postoffice several hours late as a result of the accident.

START CAMPAIGN TO CHECK TRUCK SPEED

Marking a new drive to enforce the speed limits for trucks over the state and county highways, complaint was filed today by County Motorcycle Officer H. S. Warner, charging Manuel Terrasas, driver of a truck belonging to the Haydes Truck company, of Los Angeles, with violating the speed law.

According to the complaint, the truck was traveling at a rate of 28 miles an hour. For an automobile this would be no speed violation, but the limit for trucks is 15 miles an hour.

Warner apprehended Terrasas on the El Toro boulevard yesterday. A strict enforcement of the truck speed limits is contemplated henceforth, it was stated today.

LOCAL BURGLAR'S PAL REQUESTS PROBATION

Having pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in San Bernardino, Ray "Red" Kitchell, alleged companion of William Lloyd Krafer in the burglary of the W. E. Lanyon home in Santa Ana, November 1, will hear a ruling tomorrow at 3 p. m. on his application for probation in the superior court of San Bernardino county.

City Marshal Sam Jernigan and Motorcycle Officer Frank Stewart, of Santa Ana, have been asked to appear at the hearing because of information they possess concerning Kitchell's activities in this city.

Kitchell escaped at the time Krafer was arrested for the Santa Ana burglary, but later fell into the hands of the San Bernardino county authorities in connection with a burglary there.

Krafer was tried and convicted here for the Lanyon burglary and is now serving a term in San Quentin. He declined to ask for probation.

CARS CRASH.

No damage occurred in a collision between cars driven by Charles Russell and John Bellman, which took place at a filling station between Anaheim and Fullerton, according to a report filed today at the sheriff's office by Russell. The collision took place late yesterday.

MORE THAN 200 CITY BOOSTERS ATTEND REALTY BOARD BANQUET

With an enthusiasm born of pride in the wonderful success last night of the first annual banquet of the Santa Ana Realty board, Santa Ana realtors today were primed for plunging more actively into movements that will tend to advance Santa Ana and to co-operate in full with other organizations whose aims are directed toward a greater Santa Ana.

The Santa Ana Realty board set a new high mark in the history of real estate operators in Santa Ana with the first big public affair at which it was host, with more than 200 representative men and women as its guests, at St. Ann's Inn.

Speakers of the evening, who touched upon and complimented the board for the enterprise and energies of its members, paid tribute to the individual members of the organization.

Co-operative effort in the development of Santa Ana into a city of beautiful homes, prosperous industries and big population was the keynote of the evening, a spirit of enthusiasm for the home city was reflected that clearly and definitely indicated intent of co-ordinated efforts in attainment of the goal uppermost in the hearts of the home city boosters.

Program Without Hitch
The vim with which the program was put over was highly complimentary to the officers and committee members who arranged the big affair.

Freeman H. Bloodgood, president; John C. Wallace, secretary; Joseph P. Smith, chairman of the entertainment committee and his associates on the committee, L. J. Carden, R. L. Bisby and W. Frank Harris, had the banquet arrangements in charge.

When the guests were seated at the table Ralph Huntington and Kenneth Van Slyck passed paper mache hats to men and women and his feature at once put the assemblage in a happy frame of mind.

L. W. Bouldin Jr. and his orchestra composed of expert musicians, interspersed the program with selections.

Everett A. White, past president of the board, introduced Joseph P. Smith as toastmaster, and Smith won honors in such capacity in the clever manner in which he introduced each of the speakers.

Dinner Opens Evening
The program was started with the serving of the courses and continued throughout the evening until 11 o'clock. Those speaking for the various organizations represented bespoke the united effort of all in civic improvement and betterment.

The three-minute speakers were Mrs. John Clarkson, Ebell club; M. B. Wellington, Kiwanis president; W. H. Spurgeon Jr., Rotary president; O. M. Robbins, unable to be present, sent greetings, which were read by the toastmaster; C. E. Prior, vice-president of the Lions club; J. S. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. F. T. Porter, president of the Ministerial union; Alex Brownridge, bankers' association; P. S. Lucas, secretary M. and M.; D. N. Kelly, Abstract and Title Guaranty company; Robert Mize, trust officer of the Orange County Title company; J. L. McBride, president of the board of education; J. P. Baumgartner, The Register; T. P. Kellogg, Daily News; J. G. Mitchell, mayor of Santa Ana; R. S. Bisby, of the W. H. Spurgeon Realty company; T. B. Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors.

Violin selections were given by Elwood H. Baer, accompanied by Harry Garstang. Richard Jose, idol of many audiences in past years, sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." He was accompanied by Garstang.

Regrets were expressed that

Henry Barbour, president of the Long Beach Realty board, was detained at home.

Freeman H. Bloodgood, in his usual accomplished manner, delivered the obligation to the new officers, and incidentally improved the opportunity for an eloquent dissertation on the beauties of Santa Ana and the Southland. In obligating the officers, Bloodgood made some of them accept promises of certain definite accomplishments.

The following officers and committee chairmen were obligated:

Freeman H. Bloodgood, president; Low H. Wallace, first vice president; Hawley J. Selway, second vice president; Frank C. Pope, treasurer; John C. Wallace, secretary; L. W. Bouldin Jr., chairman finance committee; Stanley F. Goode, chairman membership committee; Joseph P. Smith, chairman reception and entertainment committee; A. B. Roussele, chairman city planning and zoning committee; Everett A. White, chairman advertising committee; Linn L. Shaw, chairman Greater Santa Ana committee; Lincoln J. Carden, chairman appraisal committee; Frank C. Pope, chairman law and legislation committee; J. Wiley Harris, chairman arbitration committee; Newton E. Wray, chairman new industries committee; Robert L. Bisby, chairman statistics committee.

Notables Present

The "big guns" of the evening were C. C. C. Tatum, of Los Angeles, president of the California Real Estate association; Edwin T. Kelser, of Pomona and Sacramento, state real estate commissioner, and William May Garland, of Los Angeles, former president of the National Association of Real Estate boards.

Kelser impressed upon his auditors the obligation real estate men bear to purchaser and seller when handling a transaction. He declared it was the duty of the agent to protect the interest of both clients—to sell a man a piece of property that he could handle without possible failure, and to advise a stranger correctly as to character of land, valuations, etc.

He declared that no agent had a right to sell a piece of property at an advanced price over the listing and retain the difference between the selling price and the listed price. The real estate law, he said, does not permit this.

Warns Against Schemes

He made the broad statement that hundreds of small investors are being induced to buy alleged oil lots and property in Southern California. He said that if the investors would pause for a moment to investigate, they would find that many of them pay at the rate of one million dollars an acre, and cited a concrete example of a company operating at Signal Hill in which the investors are paying $140,000 an acre.

Tatum said that in time realtors of the state would be supported by laws that would place the selling of real estate on a high plane and make of it a real profession. He said that in the immediate future pilgrims from the other side of the Rockies would hunt up the real estate men for advice, instead of running away from them, as is the case frequently now. He predicted that Santa Ana would be selected as the next convention city for the California Real Estate association. Sentiment and not speculation should govern in the purchase of a home, he declared.

Pleads For Unity

Garland spoke of California, and said that there should be no talk or thought of dividing this grand empire. He spoke of the romance of the northern part of the state, where the history of California started, and the hospitality of the people of those days. He desired that hospitality to continue to be one of the assets of the state as a whole and not as the feature of any one portion.

"The greatest service that can be done by any individual or group of men is to promote the policy of 'own your own home,'" he said. "With people owning their own home bolshevism never can enter this domain."

E. R. Cooper, manager of St. Ann's Inn, gave further evidence of his ability last night. The large assemblage was served promptly. The menu was originated by the men in charge of the banquet and each course was designated by a "play" on county localities or products of the county.

Save the bird in hand—
The others may be hard to catch

With enough money, enough time and enough luck, a man may get back the health he has lost—or part of it.

It takes patience, too.

And then there may be no success, or only a little.

It's better to save what you have than hunt for what you've lost—as the most successful health-restorers will tell you.

Much of the loss of health is due to faulty, careless diet. Wrong meals at all times and right meals at wrong times load the long-suffering digestive organs with elements of destruction, or starve the tissues and glands of needed elements.

Grape-Nuts is a delicious cereal food which has the qualities of scientific nutrition. It supplies the full richness of those splendid food grains, wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral elements, so often lacking from foods. Served with cream or good milk, Grape-Nuts gives full nourishment without over-loading the stomach.

A splendid thought for breakfast or lunch, for those who would keep health—

DECIDUOUS TREE PRUNING TALKS TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

State Specialists Will Be Here for Series of Practical Demonstrations

FIRST AT WEST ORANGE

Will Continue Instruction Friday at Bennett and Allen Bros. Ranches

Growers of deciduous fruits today were looking forward with lively interest to the series of pruning demonstrations to be held in this county Thursday and Friday of this week under the auspices of the Orange county farm bureau.

Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg announced today that W. E. Tufts, fruit specialist from the College of Agriculture, will be on hand to assist in the demonstration.

The meetings will be held at the plots pruned by specialists during the past three years.

On Thursday, February 9, demonstrations will be conducted on James Smiley's ranch, on North Flower street, near the West Orange station. The hour of this demonstration is 10 a. m.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock similar demonstrations are scheduled for Costa Mesa, at the ranch of D. J. Dodge.

There will be two demonstrations Friday.

The first will be held at 10 a. m. at A. L. Bennett's place, at the corner of the Buena Park road and Anaheim boulevard.

Friday at 2 p. m., the pruning demonstrations are scheduled to be held at the home of the Allen brothers, one mile north of Garden Grove.

Scores of growers interested in apples, peaches, apricots and other deciduous fruits have signified their intention of witnessing the demonstrations, and marked interest has been manifested in the long system of pruning.

It was said that a number of commercial pruners have adopted this system after checking up on the results of check-plots developed in Orange county.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND CURSED BUT NO LOVE

While he paid liberal attention to other women, the notice he accorded his wife was mostly in the form of blows and curses, according to the allegations made against James B. White by Myrtle M. White in her suit for divorce, on file today in the superior court through Attorney Charles D. Swanner.

The Whites were married January 1, 1910, at Ft. Worth, Texas, and separated September 14, 1921. There are two children, of which the wife asks custody.

WARNING ON QUACKS WHO OFFER TO DOCTOR TREES SOUNDED HERE

"Beware of quack tree doctors," is the advice offered Orange county growers by the state department of agriculture, through the Orange county farm bureau here.

"As the old orchard problem becomes more acute, there is a tendency to attract the selfish interest of so-called tree doctors," the warning reads.

"These men advertise the cure-all of tree ailments by mysterious or secret treatments. We have something of a parallel nature in the case of the human family. Physical ailments may develop which, on account of a lack of knowledge, may be found difficult to cure. Here is the quack doctor's opportunity."

"He blandly offers a free diagnosis, makes extravagant promises and uses other questionable methods. We would urge that the fruit grower beware of all extravagant claims for success in treating decadent trees. He should wait until local orchard experience has demonstrated the exact value of any particular treatment."

MAILS IS COACHING SACRAMENTO HI NINE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Walter Mails, pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, this spring is coaching the baseball team of the Sacramento high school. Last spring Mails coached the St. Mary's college team of Oakland.

Mails says he has a winning outfit in the state capital and thinks his boys will be able to win from any other high school nine in California.

SEASON AT HAND FOR RECRUITING BABY CHICKS

BY E. W. JARDINE

The thoughts of most poultry raisers at this time of the year are centered in baby chicks. We have to fill up the gaps in our flocks made by culling, mortality, etc. In many cases the rancher has been so successful with his birds during the past season, that he has decided to add considerably to his flock, either by getting the day old chick, or by buying three month old pullets.

There are several ways of starting in the poultry business, or of adding to your existing flocks.

If you own good breeding stock, you can hatch your own eggs or get them custom hatched for you. You can if you wish, buy the day-old chick from a reliable hatchery for $15.00 a hundred, or else you can purchase three-months old pullets at $1.25 a bird from breeders who make a specialty of this kind of business; right here I wish to say, that unless you are fixed up so that you can brood chicks properly, you will be money ahead by getting reliable pullets.

Having decided upon the way you are going to start or build up your existing flocks, the next step is how to brood the chicks, and this very important matter I will discuss with you next week.

While at Costa Mesa a few days

DRAFT PROGRAM FOR POULTRY MEN FEB. 15

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the careful analysis of the poultry business today," said Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott, here, today, discussing the meeting to be held at the farm bureau office here February 15, when the 1922 program for the poultry industry will be discussed by representative poultrymen. The meeting will be called to order at 11 a. m.

"Inasmuch as there have been but one or two farm centers in the county to take definite action regarding poultry projects for this year," Scott continued, "the Extension Service will try to assist by suggesting lines of work to be followed."

"It is not altogether with the idea of greater production, or the introduction of any radical changes in feeding, handling or housing of birds, that the program for the year is essential."

"It is the plan, however, to make it possible for the poultrymen to get down to details, and have a working knowledge of the actual dollars and cents that enter into such a business."

"Much of this demand for information has not come entirely from the owners of hens, but from the citrus and deciduous fruit growers, who are beginning to appreciate what a valuable asset a poultry plant would be to an orchard or a grove."

"Regardless of the production of eggs," say some of the leading citrus men, "we believe the tons of fertilizer produced by the flocks of hens will more than cover the cost of the entire enterprise." Is this true, or is it theory?

"This is only one of the many important questions the poultrymen must decide. Hence the importance of meetings such as the one scheduled for February 15."

ASKS FOR BOND SALE
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Southern Counties Gas company applied to the railroad commission today for authority to issue and sell $366,000 par value of its first mortgage bonds for the purpose of reimbursing its treasury for capital expenditures made up to December, 1921. The company desires to sell this issue at a price to yield not less than 8 1/2 per cent of par plus accrued interest.

ANAHEIM WINNER IN EGG-LAYING COMPETITION

Rhode Island Reds Belonging to Fred Heying In Line for More Honor

To Anaheim goes the distinction of having the high-producing hen for December at the farm bureau egg-laying contest at Pomona, according to announcement today by Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott. At the same time Scott said indications were that a Mother Colony hen would carry off high honors in the January contest.

"These Rhode Island Red chickens belong to Fred Heying," said Scott, "and the high-producing hen for December is one from the pen of eleven birds entered by the Anaheim poultryman. We have reason to believe that the same pen will produce the high-layer for January."

"Although reports from Pomona had been somewhat discouraging," Scott continued, "the obstacles have been overcome and we anticipate some very satisfactory results."

"Every precaution has been taken to give the birds the very best of care and, with hospital quarters established, all diseases are promptly diagnosed and the birds are attended to at once. It has been possible,

CHARGES DESERTION; MARRIED 21 YEARS

Desertion was alleged by Archie M. Kidd as grounds for the divorce which he seeks from Mand M. Kidd, in a complaint on file today in the superior court.

The desertion is declared to have taken place at La Habra December 1, 1920, more than 21 years after their marriage at Lexington, Kentucky, March 6, 1899.

There are three children, the oldest 21 and the youngest 11. Attorneys Allen and Lyon, of Fullerton, represent the plaintiff.

DIVORCED WIFE QUICK TO TAKE NUMBER TWO

Orval B. Handy, husband No. 1, had hardly been granted his final decree of divorce today from Bonnie May Handy, 19, of Santa Ana, when she appeared with prospective husband No. 2 and secured a marriage license from County Clerk J. M. Backs. Reginald Sumner Field, 23, of Redondo Beach, was the prospective groom.

BUSY MONTH IS SCHEDULED FOR FARMER FOLK

A busy month confronts the respective heads of the Orange county farm bureau and the Agricultural Extension service, according to a schedule made public today by Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg.

Farm center meetings and field demonstrations will be featured throughout the month of February, Wahlberg said, and additional meetings are being planned for the spring months.

Included in the February schedule is the Garden Grove dairy meeting today, a secretaries meeting to be held tomorrow, and the La Habra farm center meeting to be held February 16 at 7 p. m.

Other meetings and field demonstrations included the following:

West Orange deciduous pruning demonstration, February 9, at 10 a. m.

Costa Mesa deciduous demonstration, February 9, at 2 p. m.

Buena Park deciduous pruning demonstration, February 10, at 10 a. m.

Garden Grove deciduous pruning demonstration, February 10, at 2 p. m.

Costa Mesa farm center meeting, February 10, at 7:30 p. m.

Buena Park farm meeting, February 13, at 7:30 p. m.

Anaheim gopher control demonstration February 13, at 2 p. m.

County Hospital gopher control demonstration, February 14, at 10 a. m.

Other meetings include those scheduled for Fullerton, Yorba Linda, Santa Ana, Villa Park, El Toro, San Juan Capistrano and at other Orange county points.

TRACE TREE DAMAGE TO GNAWING GOPHERS

Pointing out that the gopher is responsible for inestimable damage done trees in Southern California, H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, today urged growers and others interested in this and kindred subjects to attend the four field demonstrations scheduled to be held February 13 and 14.

On Monday, February 13, field demonstrations will be conducted at the home of Dr. J. R. Schofield, one-half mile south of Buena Park. This demonstration was set for 10 a. m.

In the afternoon of the same date, similar demonstrations will be held at 2 o'clock at the N. E. Allen place, at the corner of Cerritos and South Placentia avenues.

Two demonstrations will be held Tuesday, February 14. The first, at 10 a. m., will be held at the Orange county hospital. The second, scheduled for 2 p. m., will be held at the M. Judson place, Placentia and East Orange thorpe avenues.

Methods of control and tree treatment will be discussed by H. E. Wahlberg, W. C. Jacobson, of Sacramento, and others. Marching and the painting of trees will be demonstrated, as well as the methods used in trapping and poisoning gophers. The meetings will be open to the public.

SUITCASE STOLEN

A suitcase containing samples of men's shirts and other articles of clothing was stolen from the car of Monroe Walter, Los Angeles clothing salesman, while the car stood in front of St. Ann's Inn, according to a report on file at police headquarters here today. The theft took place Monday evening.

COW OWNERS AT BIG GATHERING AT GROVE ARE GIVEN PRIZE AWARDS

Bovine Royalty and Nobility Are Accorded Just Dues; 90 Men There

COUNCIL CHIEF SPEAKS

Experts In Various Lines Address Meeting of Producers

Bovine royalty and nobility were being waited upon today, at the conference of Orange county dairymen in the Chamber of Commerce hall at Garden Grove.

Blue blood and creamy white milk received due recognition when the awards for excellence during the past year were made to the owners of prize dairy cattle by Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott.

Six trophies, suitably inscribed silver cups, were awarded as prizes for good records in Orange county dairies; $40 in saving accounts, and $20 in merchandise orders were also awarded in recognition of milk producing feats.

About ninety dairymen and others interested were present at the sessions, which were in progress all day.

Green Main Speaker
Sam H. Green, secretary of the California Dairy council, was the principal speaker of the day. He told of the efforts of the council to increase the production and consumption of milk in Southern California, and gave advice as to the methods employed.

J. T. Raitt, president of the dairy association of Orange county, presided and made brief remarks in introducing the speakers. J. L. Bicklen, newly appointed cow tester for the county organization, arrived in Santa Ana yesterday and attended the convention today.

J. J. Frey, of the dairy service of the University of California, and C. V. Castle, also of the dairy division of the university, spoke on "Feed Problems of a Dairymen."

Tells Cow Diseases
Dr. E. M. Keese, chief veterinarian of the state department, located at Los Angeles, talked on cow diseases and kindred difficulties which the dairymen has to combat, and explained methods of treatment and prevention.

Assistant Farm Advisor G. E. Gordon, of Los Angeles county, who is in charge of the cow testing work there, told of the experiences of

I can remember when a few years ago a man had to make excuses for choosing a Studebaker but by building the best SIX on the market the Studebaker factory has eliminated the necessity of it.

B. UTTLEY, Santa Ana
It was much harder to sell Studebakers a few years ago than today but it is not all easy sailing yet. We still have to convince some men that a six is the most economical to operate and keep running. We still have to show many men that it is what their cash difference buys that counts rather than what they are offered for their old cars.

You have almost guessed it.
There are still a few days more in which you can see the cars and get a coupon. Remember! Saturday closes the contest.

If you live in Orange County write your answer on coupon. Watch Studebakers Daily. Some day they will mention it.

Did Noah Build the Ark of Cascara Bark?

It is doubtful that Cascara, commonly called Chittim-wood bark or Sacred bark, is the same Chittim-wood of which it is said Noah built the ark.

There is no doubt, however, that Cascara has contributed to the saving of many lives which may be why it is called Sacred bark.

Cascara bark must be at least two years old after it is gathered before it is suitable for medicinal uses. This is necessary to develop the laxative medicinals.

Puretest Aromatic Cascara is an aromatic extract of Cascara which has all the valuable laxative properties of Cascara without the bitter taste. PURETEST AROMATIC CAS-CARA contains no alcohol and in this respect it differs from all other fluid extracts of Cascara.

A secret process is used in making PURETEST AROMATIC CAS-CARA without alcohol, and as a result more of the laxative principle is extracted and less of the resins that is present in the bark. Thus the dose of PURE-TEST AROMATIC CAS-CARA is smaller and the effect is better than when a Cascara is taken that contains alcohol. PURETEST AROMATIC CAS-CARA sells at 1 oz. 15c; 2 oz. 25c; 4 oz. 40c; 8 oz. 75c

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife—Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done.

Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that makes their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Had Nervous Spells

Horatio, Ark.—"I had nervous spells and awful bad feelings. My right side and my back hurt me all the time and I had been going down in health for six or seven years. For three years I had not been able to do my work without help. I weighed only 95 pounds when my husband's mother persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I heartily recommend it to all suffering women, as I have gained weight and health. I can do all my work, anything I want to do."—Mrs. JIM REARICK, Horatio, Arkansas.

Reading, Pa.—"I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my housework. I always had to have help or I would never have got it done. Through the advice of friends I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for my blood and I am feeling fine and doing my work all alone. I can recommend these medicines to any one, for they certainly helped me. I suffered for five years and Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines pulled me through."—Mrs. WALTER U. STOVER, 1218 Mulberry St., Reading, Pa.

Recommends the Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I have found relief from my troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I praise it wherever I go. I could not do my work as it should be done for I would sometimes have to lie down because of the pains I had. A friend induced me to take your Vegetable Compound and I have got great results from it. I keep house and am able to do all my own work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine."—Mrs. T. FOSCHLER, 1915 N. Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

INCOME TAX AND ITS RELATION TO FARMERS

and persons not living with husband or wife—whose net income for the year 1921 was $1,000 or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and by every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2,000 or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more.

"Net income" is gross income, less certain specified deductions, which are more liberal than were provided by the revenue act of 1918. In gross income, the farmer is required to include "all gains, profits and income derived from the sale or exchange of farm products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold." The requirement to file a return of gross income, regardless of the amount of net income, is a new provision of law. Whether or not gross income equalled or exceeded $5,000, returns must be filed by single persons if the net income equalled or exceeded $1,000, and by married persons if the net income equalled or exceeded $2,000. In computing the net income of married persons, the earnings or other income of dependent minor children must be included.

The exemptions are $1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married persons and heads of families whose net income for 1921 was $5,000 or less and $2,000 for married persons and heads of families whose income was in excess of $5,000. Under the revenue act of 1918, the exemption allowed such persons was $2,000, regardless of the amount of net income. A person who supports in one household one or more relatives (other than wife or husband) is the head of a family.

The tax rates for 1921 are unchanged—4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemption and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. The exemption for dependents—a person dependent upon the taxpayer for chief support who is under eighteen years of age or mentally or physically incapacitated—is increased from $200 to $400. Thus, a married man with three children under 18 years of age whose income for 1921 was $4,000, is entitled to an exemption of $3,700. The exemption allowed such a man for the year 1920 was $2,600.

Deductions Allowed Farmers
All necessary expenses incurred during the year 1921 in the operation of a farm as a business enterprise, are deductible items. These include harvesting and marketing of crops and the cost of seed and fertilizer used. Amounts expended for the cost of feed for live stock may be claimed but the value of a farmer's own products used for such purpose is not a deductible item. The farmer may deduct the cost of farm tools used up in the course of a year, wages paid to employees (other than domestic servants) and rent paid for farm lands and buildings (other than the dwelling) cost of repairs to fences and to wagons and machinery, also bills paid for horseshoeing, stock powders, rock salt, veterinary service, insurance (except on the dwelling) gasoline for operating power and sundry minor expenses.

The cost of farm machinery of a permanent character, such as a threshing machine or tractor and extensive repairs to farm buildings, such as placing a new roof on the barn, are not deductible expenses. These are regarded as capital investments, made for the purpose of improving the property and enhancing its value. Amounts expended in the developments of farms, orchards and ranches prior to the time when the productive state was reached, may be regarded as investments of capital, also amounts expended for the purchase of breeding or dairy animals. The purchase price of an automobile, even when wholly used in carrying on farming operations, is not deductible, but is regarded as an investment of capital. The cost of gasoline, repairs and upkeep of an automobile if used wholly in the business of farming, is deductible as an expense; if used partly for business purposes and partly for the pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer or his family, such cost may be apportioned according to the extent of such use. Only the proportion of cost attributable to business is deductible as a necessary expense.

Deductible Expenses
The farmer who keeps his accounts "on the receipts and disbursements basis" which means a record of the amount actually received and the amount actually paid for expenses—must file his income tax return for the year 1921 on that basis. Another method of keeping accounts of income and expenses is

MOVE STARTED FOR DIVISION OF ALASKA

ANCHORAGE (Alaska) Feb. 7.—The Chamber of Commerce here has launched a movement for a division of the territory of Alaska on the line of the new capital at Anchorage. Southeastern Alaska is said to favor the division and wants to include the railroad and the eastern territory. The matter it is said, will be submitted to congress at an early date.

dairymen in his section and of some of the problems solved by them. Miss Idabel Durgan, county nurse and dairy inspector, was introduced by Chairman Ralitt. She spoke briefly, outlining her method of working, and asking co-operation from the members present. Secretary R. D. Flaherty, representing the farm bureau, advocated co-operative buying among the milk producers, and advanced arguments in that regard.

the "accrual basis." For those keeping their accounts on the accrual basis, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year. The gross profits are obtained by adding to the inventory value of live stock and farm products on hand at the end of the year, amounts received from the sale of the stock and products and other miscellaneous receipts during the year, and deducting from this sum the inventory value of stock on hand at the beginning of the year, plus the cost of stock and produce purchased during the year. As an illustration of the difference between the receipts and disbursements basis and the accrual basis, let us take a cash purchase on December 1, 1921, of 5 tons of hay and 1,000 bushels of corn and oats; by the receipts and disbursements basis, the cost would be deducted from gross income for the year 1921, and by the accrual method, the cost of only the amount used in December would be charged to that year, and the balance carried by inventory into the year 1922, to be a charge against gross income of that year.

Referring To Losses

Losses incurred in the operation of a farm as a business enterprise are deductible from gross income. If, however, farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction is allowed on account of shrinkage in weight or value, for the reason that when such products are sold, the shrinkage will be reflected in the selling price. The total loss by frost, storm, flood or fire of a prospective crop is not deductible. The reason is that unless the crop reaches maturity and is harvested and sold, its value never reached gross income, and therefore an arbitrary deduction of such loss cannot be allowed. The loss of a growing crop simply means that the farmer has so much less gross income to report and therefore would pay a reduced tax, if any tax at all. A loss in the value of animals raised on the farm is not deductible, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used. However, if live stock was purchased for any purpose and afterwards died from disease, exposure or injury, or was killed by order of the authorities of the state or the United States, the actual purchase price less any depreciation which may have been previously sustained with respect to such stock, and any insurance or indemnity recovered may be deducted as a loss.

Household Expenses

Deductions of family or living expenses such as rent for a dwelling, repairs to a dwelling, cost of food and clothing for the family, education of children, servants' wages and similar items are expressly prohibited by the revenue act of 1921. General deductions, such as for taxes, interest on personal indebtedness, losses sustained in transactions entered into for profit aside from the farmer's regular business, losses sustained by fire, storm, or other casualties, bad debts and contributions, are explained in instructions on the form for filing returns. The farmer must include in his return of gross income not only the profits of his farm, but all other income such as interest on bank deposits and profits received from the sale or rent of farm lands. The farmer who lets out a farm on a crop-share basis must include in his income tax return for the year the cash when received. A farmer who lets out a farm on a cash rental basis and is paid in crops must report the exact cash rental agreed upon whether or not the crops are disposed of.

The bureau of internal revenue has had prepared for farmers a special form—1040 F—for recording sales of live stock, produce and miscellaneous receipts. All farm income from any source whatever must be reported in this schedule, which must be attached to the form for making individual returns.

What Form To Use

Forms 1040 A for income of $5,000 or less and 1040 F for individual incomes in excess of $5,000, may be obtained in the offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. Those forms will be mailed to persons who filed similar returns of income for the year 1920. Failure to receive the form, however, does not relieve the person from filing his return and paying the tax within the time prescribed by law. The return must be filed on or before March 15, 1922. The tax this year, as last, may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15. Heavy penalties are provided by the revenue act for failure or willful refusal to file a return and pay the tax on time.

Revenue officers are visiting every county in the United States to assist taxpayers in the preparation of their income tax returns for the year 1921. The date of their arrival and the location of their offices will be announced through the press, or may be obtained on inquiry at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. This advisory service is without cost to the taxpayer. Before seeking such assistance, however, taxpayers should read carefully the instructions on the forms.

I am very glad to see that Garden Grove has started up a new hatchery, The Garden Grove Hatchery, and judging by the large number of chicks booked for future delivery, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, the owners of the plant, should make a great success.

F. A. Walworth of the "Snowflake"

Ranch" on west Fifth street, Santa Ana, has lately added to his plant, five 14x16 breeding houses to accommodate his fine flock of white leghorns.

Owners of orange and lemon groves, are quickly finding out that "chickens and groves" go hand in hand. A hen produces about 40 pounds of manure a year. One thousand hens, properly managed on a ten acre grove, will besides netting a good profit from themselves in eggs, produce enough fertilizer for the place as well.

Orange county will soon be as well known for its poultry industry as it is now for its valencias.

LAGUNA WOMEN
ELECT CLUB OFFICERS

BY MALCOLM S. MACLEAN
LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 8.—That the women's club in Laguna Beach, already a vital factor and one that will become increasingly more so was proved by the fact that at their first open meeting more than ninety women attended.

The program opened with a lecture by Dr. John Comstock, curator of the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles, who brought with him a collection of Indian baskets into the weaving of which a pattern had gone that told the history of a tribe. With these as a basis Dr. Comstock lectured on the Indian Tribes of California.

He was followed by Antonio Apache, a full blooded Apache Indian Apache brought many beautiful rugs and with them as illustration gave a lecture on Indian rug weaving and dyeing.

The final election of officers was held. They are for 1922 as follows: Mrs. William Swift Daniell, president.

Mrs. B. D. Petersen, first vice president.

Mrs. O. N. Steele, second vice president.

Mrs. R. Clarkson Coleman, secretary.

Mrs. A. H. Burkholder, treasurer.

Mrs. Ida Ziebach, chairman of civics.

Miss Lolita Perrine, chairman of art.

Mrs. Malcolm Mac Lean, chairman of literature.

Miss Ann Mason, chairman of hospitality.

Mrs. J. S. Thurston, doorkeeper.

Miss Marion George, chairman of membership.

Personal Notes
Mrs. and Dr. N. A. Bolles, Miss Ann Mason, Mrs. and Mr. R. Clarkson Coleman, and Mrs. Eva and Miss Lolita Perrine went to Balboa for a picnic Monday.

Major and Mrs. G. A. Booker have purchased 2-1/2 acres on Laguna Heights.

Miss Marion Crandall and Mrs. T. B. Tunnick, her sister, are here to spend the winter in Mrs. Tunnick's cottage on the Cliffs.

Mrs. N. T. Brickel from Madison, Wisconsin, is occupying her home on Laguna Terrace for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Lucretia Daniell, sister of William Swift Daniell, the artist, has come to visit her brother here for two months. She is from Teacher's college, Columbia university.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Elliot have returned from Los Angeles to Arch Beach.

The Misses Florence and Irene Martin, of Los Angeles, entertained at a houseparty in their new home at Arch Beach last week end. The guest of honor was Captain Jack Bacon just returned from the American Army of Occupation in Germany. The other guests were Miss Clara German and Messrs. Arda Darhanian and Jack Nolan. The elder Mr. and Mrs. Martin accompanied the party.

L. F. Thurston and family of San Fernando, were visitors at the home of his brother J. S. Thurston here during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Allen were transient visitors here on their honeymoon automobile trip last Sunday.

Mrs. Roy W. Peacock was made glad by word from her twin sister in Pasadena of the safe arrival of a baby. Once more Robert and Mrs. Messenger assume the honors of grandparenthood.

Mrs. Kittie Peters of Los Angeles, is visiting Mrs. Elmer Robbins. She will remain until the return of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Waring from their trip through the desert country where they have gone with their small grandson.

Miss Jessie Washburn, proprietor of the Laguna Arts and Crafts, is moving from her present location to the "Idle Hour." On this, as on her present shop, she is making extensive alterations over the execution of which taste and imagination preside. Indeed she has the knack of the proverb for she can make "a silk purse out of a sow's ear."

Here From Cornell
William Swift Daniell's sister, dean of women of Cornell university has arrived in Laguna Beach to make an extended stay here with the Daniels.

A chicken ranch has been started at the junction of Laguna and El Toro canyons. The ranch is for a beginning to be stocked with 1500 chickens.

Austin Cody and Frank Shaw have nearly completed the details of the organization of their dairy for Laguna Beach. They will be ready for business, it is expected, inside the next six weeks.

Maia Pratt Stanton and Ann Dare, both of Carmel-by-the-sea, were guests of Annie Gayne Peake and Mrs. Mabelle Lord Frost at the Quest on the Cliffs last week.

Mrs. Eva Perrine, Lolita Perrine and Frank W. Cuprien were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thurston Thursday evening. After the dinner Antonio Apache, Indian speaker before the Laguna Women's club, arrived and entertained the party with stories of the Indians and a display of his Apache rugs.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Case have come to Laguna to make it their permanent home.

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. H. Rider, Mrs. Ada Ziebach and Mrs. K. Yens, all of Arch Beach, motored to Chino to visit Miss A. Beardsley and to inspect fully the Junior republic of which Miss Beardsley is the secretary.

Miss Hedwig Boyman spent last week in Los Angeles.

B. W. Folsom and a party of ten men from San Diego have gone to San Quentin to fish and hunt for a short season.

A Goff's youngest daughter underwent an operation for adenoids last week.

Hazel Moon, the few months' old baby of P. Moon of the Hazel cafe is

FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Frank Morse was surprised on her birthday, last Saturday, at her home on North Spadra by a group of ladies who dropped in to spend the afternoon with her, playing auction bridge. The hostess served refreshments later. Those present were:

Mesdames Emanuel Smith, Frank Mulrein, C. E. Bacon, E. T. Hall, Fred Snyder, J. B. Welch, F. P. Wood and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bacon spent Sunday afternoon in Los Angeles.

Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Graves moved to their new home, 609 North Spadra, on Saturday.

There was a meeting of the study section of the Elbell club Tuesday afternoon at the F. U. H. S. clubrooms. The subject of the afternoon was China and its political conditions.

Mrs. Frank Morse enjoyed having her son, Nathan C. Morse, with her over the week-end. Young Morse will matriculate at the U. S. C. tomorrow.

Mrs. Alice Herring, son, John, and brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lehman, were the guests of Mrs. B. F. Dupuy, 723 North Spadra avenue, yesterday afternoon. The hostess served a dainty buffet luncheon. The Herring live in Long Beach and motored over for the afternoon.

Miss Margaret Strain is spending a few days at the family cottage at Laguna Beach. She has been quite ill for some time and is taking this little vacation to recuperate.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dowling, Breckenridge, Texas, are with their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Dowling here, after about three years in Texas.

Paul Dowling was in the garage business while in Texas but has sold his interests there and expects to locate in Southern California soon. He is a graduate of the F. U. H. S. and Pomona college and will be welcomed by his many friends here and in this vicinity. The trip here was made by motor and was one of interest for the young folks, who covered 1600 miles.

Mrs. Olive Bailey, librarian at the Placentia library, will not be able to be at her work for a few days due to illness. Miss Harriet Dowling is taking her place very capably.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahnar Devening spent a very delightful week-end with their families in San Bernardino. They were entertained at dinner on Sunday at the home of Devening's sister, Mrs. J. Molles on West Beighth street. They were the guests of Lawrence Hennessy on Saturday evening at a dance.

Among those present from Fullerton at the funeral services of Dr. Amador were:

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo O'Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Fahs, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hoppe, Mr. and Mrs. D. King, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin, from Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Zitsman. The men were the bearers of the casket and were very close friends of the deceased.

Mrs. J. L. Haver is spending today at the funeral services of Dr. Amador.

The Prestons have moved into their new garage on A street, which they will occupy until their residence is completed.

Wedded at Home
On the evening of February 3, a beautiful home wedding was solemnized at the residence of L. A. Cock, when their daughter, Alma C. Cock, was married to Mr. W. H. Kenyon, of Huntington Beach, by the Rev. Mr. McDougall. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom witnessed the impressive ceremony.

Miss Cock is held in highest esteem by all her acquaintances, both in Tustin and Los Angeles, and they wish for her all the joy possible. She was honored with many social functions during the last month and was showered with lovely presents of linen, silver and cutglass.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmslie will be at home to their numerous friends after March 1 at Huntington Beach.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. B. Peterson, Philadelphia friends of the Cassadys, took dinner with them Sunday.

For the benefit of those who would be pleased to hear Evangelist John T. Hatfield, it is announced he is to begin a series of meetings February 12 to continue till February 26 at Olinda.

Frank and C. E. Greenwood and families motored Sunday to Pomona, Covina, Arcadia and on the foothills, where snow was plentiful, even on the north side of the orchards.

They had felt that the outlook here was very doubtful, but after leaving the citrus situation around those places as compared with it here, returned home, feeling that conditions here were too favorable to admit of discouragement.

Several others visited the frozen territory and are eloquent in their commendation of the smudging system, notwithstanding its inconvenience and unpleasantness.

To Attend Picnic
Several Tustin families were planning to attend the Warren county, Illinois picnic, which was to be held at Long Beach today.

William Rogers and family, old friends of the Beckmans, being unable to find a house to their liking in Orange county, have finally located in Palms.

John P. Pieper, while cranking his truck Saturday, met with quite a painful accident, dislocating his wrist and breaking one bone.

The meeting of the county school principals was well attended and the discussion of questions and gradations was interestingly considered and for the next meeting the subject of "Local Institute" will be considered.

Mrs. Ebel, Mrs. Satterwhite and Miss Minnie Childs went as delegates Monday to the Los Angeles Presbyterial. They motored over with Mr. McDougall at the wheel. He attended the Ministerial association which convened the same day.

BOLSA

BOLSA, Feb. 8.—The schedule for services at the local Methodist church changed back to its former time next Sunday, February 12, when Sunday school will be held at 10 o'clock and preaching services, by the pastor, the Rev. J. J. Woodson, at 3 o'clock.

At the first of the year a plan of conducting services the first Sunday morning in every month was inaugurated, but this plan has proved unsuccessful, necessitating the change.

Mrs. Frank Draper was a caller at the J. A. Ross home Friday afternoon.

Owing to a defect in the heating facilities for the room in the local grammar school, occupied by Miss Tyler, the pupils were dismissed several days the past week. This was repaired by workmen Saturday and school was resumed Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gardner entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shutt Jr. of Huntington Beach, at dinner Monday evening.

Mrs. Colter and baby daughter returned home the past week from Long Beach where they spent the past month.

Theaters

Tonight's Attractions.

YOST — Richard Barthelmess in "Tol'able David." (Opening.)

TEMPLE—Cecil B. de Mille's production of "Saturday Night."

WEST END—Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter in "Don't Tell Everything."

PRINCESS—William Desmond, Margaret Clayton and Frank Losee in "Dangerous Toys." (Closing.)

"DANGEROUS TOYS" DRIVES HOME BIG TRUTHS.

Are wives just heartless handicaps for their husbands? Is vanity the price of every woman?

These are the questions which arise in an interesting picture, "Dangerous Toys," which was shown here for the first time at the Princess theater yesterday and is to be filmed again tonight.

Harman, the banker in the picture, who was deserted twenty years before by his wife, thinks all women have their price. When he finds his secretary, Jack Gray, is married, Harman is perturbed. Mrs. Gray loves pretty clothes, and in order to wear them, becomes a model in a fashionable shop. There Harman meets her, and knowing who she is, tries to cause a break between her and her husband, thinking to keep the latter.

He offers to let her occupy an apartment, and have everything her heart desires, for three weeks, without any strings attached. At the end of that time, she can go back to her husband, or continue indefinitely.

What the wife does, and what follows, forms a really absorbing picture, in which there is tenseness of situation, human appeal, and a high artistic standard. The picture is lavishly mounted and produced and well directed.

William Desmond, as the secretary, gives a straight-forward, fine performance. Margaret Clayton, as the wife, again demonstrates her ability. Frank Losee's Harman is a histrionic gem, in which the portrayal of cynicism, hiding the shattered soul of a man, is powerful, yet in spite of all, sympathetic.

HUMANNESS IS FEATURE OF "TOL'ABLE DAVID" AT YOST.
Humaneness is the big feature in "Tol'able David," in which Richard Barthelmess is starred at the Yost tonight.

Touches of human nature are plentiful throughout the picture. In order to get a scene that would show the people acting naturally, the director, Henry King, killed four hours of valuable time and then had to sneak the business over.

Prior to that time, the local people he wanted in the picture were putting on their best manners. But as they waited for the cameraman to turn his crank and no apparent action on his part they gradually fell into their accustomed modes and when King saw two boys wrestling as only two boys will do to show off their strength, he realized the opportune moment had arrived and before the people could change their actions the camera had caught them.

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA IN FILM AT TEMPLE.
Max Fisher and his famous dance orchestra are to be seen if not heard in Cecil B. DeMille's "Saturday Night" now at the Temple. While playing last season on Biefield's New Amsterdam Roof this aggregation proved itself the finest dance orchestra in America. Now comes Cecil B. DeMille with a personal presentation on the screen of this music-making group.

An orchestra was needed for an elaborate ball scene in which Leatrice Joy, Edith Roberts, Conrad Nagel, Jack Mower, Edythe Chapman, Julia Faye, John Davidson and James Neill appear. Despite the fact that the orchestra was engaged for the evenings, Max Fisher got it together at 9 o'clock in the morning so that the guests at the screen party might dance throughout the day before the camera. Fisher proved that he can act as well as play the violin.

"Close-up" of the musician and his syncopation makers in this picture proves that.

STAR AT WEST END LOVES OUTDOOR LIFE.
Real outdoor sports, such as golf, motoring and the like, appeal to Wallace Reid the athletic Paramount star more than most other forms of amusement, but of course, his talent for music enables him to get a lot of joy out of that too.

His home in Hollywood has a "jazz room," as he calls it, where he keeps his saxophones, a piano, plenty of easy chairs, books and a billiard table. There he spends lots of his leisure time with his friends.

Reid is one of the all-star cast of "Don't Tell Everything," now at the West End. Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter and others complete a big cast in which two at least—Reid and Miss Swanson—are stars in their own right.

Replies to Inquiries.
CURIOUS—We have no idea why Cecil B. DeMille calls his latest Paramount picture, "Saturday Night." It is possible, however, that because two of his principal characters spend their Saturday nights seeing Coney Island in the gay summer season, this circumstance may have been the cause. However that may be, "Saturday Night" is a great production and bids fair to be one of the most popular of the season.

PLAYWRIGHT—Leatrice Joy, a popular Paramount player, has the leading feminine role in Cecil B. DeMille's new production, "Saturday Night." Miss Joy has the role of a wealthy society girl who marries her chauffeur and lives to regret the step. The picture is said to be one of the most artistic and convincing produced by Mr. DeMille since "Forbidden Fruit."

FILES TWO CHARGES IN DIVORCE ACTION
Desertion and failure to provide was the double charge made against A. Chavez by Jennie Chavez in filing her suit for divorce today in the superior court.

Married August 6, 1920, in Santa Ana, they separated February 7, 1921, her complaint states. Her attorney is Arthur E. Koepsel.

SAN BERNARDINO 'S' TRIMS ORANGE CREW

Coach Davis' Men Take the Worst Defeat of Season, Losing 46 to 16

(Special to The Register)
ORANGE, Feb. 8.—Coach H. M. Davis' Orange high school five proved unequal to the task of winning over San Bernardino high, and fell in defeat before the mountaineers in the athletic building here last evening, 46 to 16.

Circus shots on the part of the visiting players, coupled with an inability of the locals to locate the hoop either from the middle of the floor or from the ends, brought on the worst defeat the high school team has suffered this year.

Duke, the visiting forward, was the big noise of the game. He snapped his wrist and dropped the ball into the hoop from the middle of the floor no less than eight times. From practically every position on the floor this speedy offensive man scored.

Haydes lived up to his name and shot six double counters.

The line-up:
Orange (16)
Boyer RF W. Thompson
Duke LF M. Thompson
McClure C F. Johnson
Haydes RG C. Johnson
Skinner LG Brubaker

Substitutions: Pearson, Smith, Murphy, Evans, McCormack, Heron. Baskets from floor: W. Thompson, 3; M. Thompson, 1; McClure, 2; Brubaker, 1; C. Johnson, 1; Boyer, 4; Duke, 3; Haydes, 6.

Goals on fouls: W. Thompson, 4; Boyer, 4; Skinner, 2. Referee, Walker; timekeeper, Strout; scorer, Hantson.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 8.—The University of Wisconsin athletic board has declined invitations of the University of California to participate in a post-season track and field meet at Berkeley, April 15.

LEFEVRE TO SEALS
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Al Lefevre, former Fordham captain and teammate of Frank Frick, probably will be sent to San Francisco as first payment in the O'Connell deal. He is a second baseman.

BRITTON VS. SHADE
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The Jack Britton-Dave Shade bout for the welterweight championship has been definitely set for February 17, in Madison Square garden.

BOGUS DRAYMEN STEAL $4000 WORTH OF TOOLS
Oil well equipment valued at $4,000 was stolen from the property of the Long Beach Consolidated Oil company, located in the Santa Ana canyon, 1 1/2 miles north of Olive, by men who claimed to have been hired to haul the apparatus away, according to a warrant that had been issued today for arrest of the thieves. The complaint was filed by C. H. Windman, an official of the oil company, and former mayor of Long Beach.

Five Go Over the Last Hurdle in a Bunch

This is an unusual photograph of the last hurdle in a steeplechase. Five horses lapped each other in the last jump. The jockey on the second last mount was lucky to keep his seat. This was in the Gardeners Handicap Hurdle at Windsor, England.

BERT COLIMA WINS FROM TAVIE DAVIS

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Bert Colima was given the decision over Tavie Davis, Seattle middleweight, after four slow rounds in the main event at Vernon last night.

Johnny Loney, Sacramento banty, outslugged Kid George in the semi-windup. Monk Fowler defeated Johnny Trambitas, Portland lightweight. Several preliminaries completed the card.

EDITORIAL ATTACKS MADE ON RATHENAU
BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Walter Rathenau was officially installed as German foreign minister and his installation prompted caustic editorials in the conservative organs, Die Zeit and the Tageliche Rundschau.

Edward Bernstein, social democratic leader, addressing a party meeting, drew a parallel between Hugo Stinnes and Dr. Rathenau, declaring the latter was more respected in foreign political quarters because of his indisputable honesty and his courage in going to the front for the Fatherland.

The Tageliche Rundschau charges Dr. Rathenau with "playing politics which even a Russian could not countenance."

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW GOOD GAIN
REDLANDS, Feb. 8.—James F. Wheat, postmaster of Redlands, says that business is good. To prove it he cites the fact that postal receipts for the month of January this year showed an increase of 5 per cent which is proof of a going concern. The total receipts for the month were about $452.69.

Wheat also says that business in other ways is on the increase. During the month of January there was more mail received and more dispatched from the local office than at any time in the history of the city.

The total receipts for last year showed an increase of about 10 per cent over the year before.

TOMBSTONE BUILDING HISTORICAL MUSEUM
TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Feb. 8.—Construction work has been started here on a museum in which is to be gathered everything of interest relating to the days when Tombstone was the greatest mining camp of the West. The famous old Bird Cage dance hall is to be restored with the furnishings it had forty years ago. A corporation also will be formed that will be a holding company for the historical data and objects.

It is designed not only to perpetuate the memories of pioneer days and to preserve their history, but as well to furnish a place of interest for the thousands of auto tourists who annually pass through the camp on the Borderland highway.

POLY JUNIORS TRIM SENIOR BALL TEAM BY 42 TO 0 SCORE

Poly high school juniors defeated the seniors last evening in a baseball game played on the high school field, 42 to 0.

The third year men just romped away with the affair, swatting the pill with ease and frequency. The near-graduates seemed unable to prevent the rollings of their younger friends.

The freshmen and sophomore teams were scheduled to meet this afternoon, but the managers of the two organizations were preparing to cancel the clash because of the rain. The winner of this game will meet the juniors. This little get together will decide the class supremacy of the school.

BOXER FINDS MONEY SHORTAGE IN LONDON

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Gold picking in Europe isn't the soft thing that a lot of American boxers imagine.

Jack Dempsey, Johnny Wilson, Johnny Kilbane and others who want to put their precious crowns on exhibition in France and England for so much a head, probably will give all their ears to Johnny Buff, when he gets back.

The little bantamweight champion who went to England with plans to stay all summer, is on his way back. He was there only a few weeks. Probably he learned that the British sports don't speak in large sums.

Notice already has been served that the London fight fans will not fall for another Dempsey-Kearns fight, although they admit that they would like to see the champion against some other worthy opponent.

When they hear that Kearns had branded the Brady offer of $200,000 as too trivial to consider, they will get the idea of how difficult it will be to get the champion against a worthy opponent.

Ever since Kilbane beat Danny Frush, regarded as a home product in England, the London papers have been shooting at the featherweight champion.

MEALEY WHIPS HANLON

SUZANNE WITHDRAWS FROM NICE TOURNAMENT

(United Press Leased Wire)
NICE, France, Feb. 8.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, European tennis champion, announced here withdrawal from the Nice tournament today just before the first players took the court.

The girl star said her physician had declared her unfit physically, for strenuous play, but will allow her to practice daily on the courts.

She hopes to be in condition to defend her title at the British Championship in Wimbledon this summer.

LEONARD READY FOR FRIDAY NIGHT BOUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Benny Leonard and Rocky Kansas are in tip-top shape for their fifteen-round lightweight championship battle in the Garden on Friday night. Leonard put in a strenuous day at Simon's gym, in Harlem, and when he knocked off announced that he was ready for anything the Buffalo Italian might have in stock. Kansas has been training at Freddie Welsh's new place, in Bayside, L. I., and says he will give Leonard the surprise of his life. The distance, fifteen rounds, Kansas says, is to his liking.

WASHINGTON QUINTET WINS FROM STANFORD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 8.—The Washington State college basketball team defeated Stanford here last night, 21 to 16, in the first contest of a two-game series. Washington State played a consistent game and the Cardinals showed only flashes of speed.

During the early part of the second half Stanford led the score, but lost it almost immediately.

FORMER DRY CHIEF HELD AFTER RAID

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—John Hennessy, former chief of the "Federal sponge squad," who has directed some of the biggest whisky raids in Chicago, was himself arrested charged with violation of the Volstead act.

Federal prohibition officers raided a saloon here and seized a large quantity of whisky. Hennessy, who is said to be the owner of the place, gave bail of $2500.

WOMEN ANGLER GETS 38 POUND TROUT IN INYO FOREST LAKE

Following is the second installment of the article written by L. A. Barrett, U. S. Forest service, regarding hunting and fishing conditions in the Inyo National forest. In today's installment Barrett tells of a woman landing a thirty-eight pound trout in Convict Lake, a historical body of water in the Inyo forest. The first installment of the article appeared on the sporting page of last night's Register.

(By L. A. Barrett.)
It is possible to return to South lake from Kings river by way of Brown and Green lakes.

There's a fine camp site at Green lake and good fishing for Rainbow trout as well as hunting for deer, grouse and quail.

Again taking the automobile from South lake, the road up the middle fork of Bishop creek is taken. The first lake reached is Intake No. 2 of the Southern Sierra Power company, an artificial lake from which the water drops 800 feet to the power house.

Not far above here is the mine and mill of the Bishop Creek Mining company.

Above the mine is Cataract falls and above the falls is very smooth water, where there is usually good fly fishing.

A short distance farther is Lake Sabrina, a beautiful sheet of water, surrounded by towering granite peaks. Fishing for rainbow trout is good here.

Good Fly Fishing.
From here by use of pack stock, the San Joaquin river is reached, going by way of Piute pass and Blaney meadows. The trail passes numerous lakes where good fishing is found.

The first one is North lake of Bishop creek. This lake is known for good fishing at all times, the best fishing being dusty and white miller.

Just above North lake take the left hand trail up Lamrick creek to Lamrick's lake. This is a wonderful reflection in these lakes and fishing is fine, as they are off the beaten path and few people know of them. Returning to the main trail, continue on up Piute creek to Piute lake.

Piute lake lies in a meadow-basin and is a fine place to camp and to fish for golden trout. The lake was stocked to golden trout several years ago and now is excellent fishing.

Many Beautiful Camps.
From here a fine one-day trip can be made down the San Joaquin river and return to Blaney meadows for the night.

The return trip to Bishop is made through French canyon and down the Piute canyon to Pine creek lake, where more fine camp sites are found. Golden trout fishing is good in Pine creek lake and the surrounding scenery is wonderful.

Below the lake the Pine creek tungsten mine is reached. This was a big producer during the war. On below here the Palisades are reached and from here to Bishop the automobile may be used.

Returning to Bishop, a fine after dinner trip is the ride down to Keoughs baths and a swim in the warm water pool. At Laws, five miles from Bishop, is one of the historical spots of Owens valley. This is the stone corral that was used as a fort by the settlers in 1865.

Historical Spot.
In April, 1865, during an uprising of the Piute Indians, eighty-six settlers were surrounded in this corral for seventeen days. Several were killed and a number wounded. On the night of the seventeenth day a man, named Mayfield, volunteered to go through the Indian lines for help. This was a cold, black night, with heavy rain and wind. Mayfield sneaked through the Indian lines successfully, stole an Indian pony and rode 52 miles to Fort Independence by daybreak. When the soldiers arrived they drove the Indians into Silver canyon in the White mountain range east of Laws.

In some way the Indians learned who brought the soldiers and later caught Mayfield in a canyon where he was killed by being cut to pieces a little at a time. This canyon was named after Mayfield and lies one-half mile north of the Wells meadow ranger station.

Loch Laven Trout.
An enjoyable side trip may be made out to the chalk bluff on Owens river for the night. The Loch Laven trout fishing here is good, but the dusty miller fly is the only one that the Owens river trout will take.

Another nice side trip to take by motor is to the Owens river canon. Here, near Leffingwell's Grade, is where one of the convicts who got away from the posse at Convict lake was shot and captured. Rainbow and Loch Laven trout are plentiful here.

En route to the canon the road passes within a short distance of a large rock on which there are many Indian hieroglyphics. A side road leads into this rock which is visited by a great many people. The carvings and paintings are similar in

THEY SAY!—
You should have heard the preacher roost them; for what they say. He said that they are mostly liars; in what they say. You'd better know the facts which show; and get them straight from men who know.

WHAT THEY SAY—
They say: "Alfalfa builds up soil, without inoculation." THAT'S NOT TRUE! They say: "Bermuda crowds it out around in this location." THAT "TWIL" NEVER DO! They say: "Legumes can nitrates draw; out of the air into the straw." Much more they say that's just as raw. They—(are dead wrong). THE TRUTH—Is plain; for your great gain; INOCULATE AND PRAY FOR RAIN.

SCHOOLS KEEPING PACE

The fact that Orange county school districts this year will expend between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 in new school buildings is graphic evidence of the rapidity with which Orange county is developing.

A community's schools are always considered a good criterion of the community's enterprise and citizenship, and well they may be. Sometimes, of course, growth in population is so rapid that school departments have a struggle keeping up with the demands made upon them. In communities that are alive to their opportunities and responsibilities, situations that are brought about by rapid growth in population, however, are not long allowed to be reflected in inadequate school facilities.

In general, communities of the county are meeting increased enrollments successfully and with foresight. Throughout the county there is confidence in the future growth of the county. Districts are not only building to meet the demands of this year but also to meet the demands of next year and the year or several years following.

The city of Santa Ana has only partly solved its problem by recently voting bonds for $250,000 for new grammar school buildings. Almost certainly within a year a new junior college, or two new junior colleges, must be provided, and additions must be made to the high school plant. The construction that is to be done this year, however, will go a long way toward meeting trying conditions that have developed in the city schools through increased enrollment in the last year or two.

Those who plan construction of schools, whether in Santa Ana or in some other point in the county, should take into consideration future needs. The voters of the county, in general, have demonstrated many times over their willingness to furnish the money for keeping the schools of the county at the head of the procession.

HARDING AS LEADER

The leadership of President Warren G. Harding has received a tribute from the Outlook. The President's brand of leadership points the way and gets results without personal glory entering into his attitude.

The Outlook has the following:
"Perhaps the least conspicuous of all the great figures of the Armament Conference has been that of the man who called it. Mr. Harding has not driven; but he has led. There are some who believe that the best way to get joint action among men is for one of them to tell the rest what to do. Mr. Harding has never acted on that theory. In his home town of Marion he was a leader in local affairs because he could get men together to talk matters over and come to a common understanding for common action. In the conduct of his newspaper he secured cooperation by making his associates, as it were, his partners. Now he has acted in the same way upon seeing the need for joint action among nations. And because of his belief in the power of public opinion, he has secured, through the press (which as a newspaper man he values), the co-operation, not merely of statesmen, but of peoples. His belief in the usefulness of neighborliness he shares with what is called the average citizen. This is his one big contribution to the affairs of state. And now Mr. Lloyd George follows him and talks in the same way of the proposed Conference at Genoa. The Harding Doctrine is spreading. And, having started this Conference at Washington, President Harding has stepped into the background and left Mr. Hughes to guide the assembled delegates in the attempt to make an international neighborhood out of the nations they represent.

PROTECTIVE FINGER PRINTS

The value of finger print records as a means of identifying criminals is commonly accepted. Few people realize how the same medium offers protection for the innocent.

A few days ago a man was arrested in Chicago in connection with an automobile swindling case. He protested his innocence, but 28 people identified him positively as the man with whom they had had transactions. He was carried off to the police station, a charge was placed against him and he was then sent to have his finger prints recorded. When the prints were compared with those of the man he was supposed to be—a criminal whose record already was on file—it was found the marks did not correspond. What neither his appearance, his assertions nor the very papers in his pockets were sufficient to establish, his finger prints established beyond doubt. He was set free.

A good many people dislike the idea of having their finger prints taken for any kind of record, public or private. It is a foolish prejudice which only the guilty should cherish. The honest man has nothing to fear, and it offers a sure means of identification when all ordinary methods fail.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

British labor has gone far in the recent manifesto submitted to Premier Lloyd George by a group of labor leaders and labor members of parliament. The manifesto calls for the establishment by the British government of industrial courts which would function like the existing civil courts, and to which both capital and labor would be compelled to submit their differences for adjudication, instead of resorting to the lock-out or strike.

The labor statisticians insist that they want to see co-operation between employers and employees, replacing the industrial warfare of the past, because they believe that industrial peace is the only way to revive business and maintain decent living standards. They condemn equally unreasonable demands of employers and unreasonable demands of workmen, and believe that there can be no way of reconciling their opposing viewpoints except through impartial tribunals with full authority to act.

This manifesto is admittedly the work of "moderates," whose views differ widely from those of the radical labor leaders. It is believed, however, that it represents the present sentiment, or at least the developing sentiment, of the majority of British workers.

In the United States this principle of compulsory arbitration has never found favor with labor. It is being fought vigorously in Kansas. It was condemned again only the other day by Samuel Gompers. Yet there is a growing feeling among moderates in this country, as in England, that there is no other way to bring peace to industry except the way that has brought peace to civilized people in nearly all their other relations with each other.

"Now, what have the Germans done with all that money they were forced to save by not having any navy to support?" asks a captious person. Maybe the same thing the Americans have done with all the money they were forced to save by not having any saloons to support.

"Small Nations In Arms." That's what keeps them from getting on their feet.

THE ARMED ROBBER

The death penalty for armed robbers is urged by a judge of the Brooklyn, N. Y., county court.

The judge holds that every armed robber, whether he be burglar or footpad, is a potential murderer. He finds in his duty of administering justice that the number of armed criminals is increasing rapidly, and he feels that the way to stop the performance is to make punishment drastic to give cause for thought even to the hardened.

The judge may be right. A brief perusal of the papers from any part of the country will reveal an alarming number of robberies committed by armed men, and of shootings in connection with these attacks. A mounting list of dead police-men adds its gruesome testimony as to whether the robber goes armed to kill.

Watching the Figures

Fresno Republican

They are doing the impossible at Washington. They are reducing the expense of running the government.

But this impossibility is not being brought about by any mysterious formula. It is the result of just starting to work and cutting down the government's expense for things where the government is not getting a return.

There are few things that the people of the United States are getting through their government that they can afford to get along without. And the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments is attending to those few things.

The government's peace activities are virtually all necessary. They are purposes the accomplishment of which we can afford to pay for.

But the present administration started out with the understanding that we were paying too much for many things.

Already the cost has been cut down, by re-arrangement, by bringing the human element in government into more efficient relation with business output.

Thirty-two million dollars has been directly saved, by the checking off of needless expenses. And one hundred and four million dollars have been indirectly saved, by reorganization. And all this before the time that General Dawes expects to make a real showing, that is as a result of reforms to be put into effect with the beginning of the next fiscal year, July 1.

The impossible is being done every day. It is not accomplished by trying to make 2 and 2 into 5. But by seeing to it that 2 and 2 always make 4.

Coast Cities Show Well

Riverside Press

It is an interesting fact that seven of the 29 cities of the country listed as leaders in building improvements for 1921 are on the Pacific coast. Los Angeles ranks third in the list, next to New York and Chicago. The total permits for the seven large cities of this coast follow:

Los Angeles	$82,713,336
San Francisco	20,100,066
Portland	17,225,576
Oakland	15,791,616
Long Beach	13,159,243
Seattle	12,362,425
San Diego	10,413,853

It is decidedly interesting to note that Portland is a close second to San Francisco, and that Oakland and Long Beach are not far behind the bay metropolis.

Pacific coast cities not heretofore reported follow:

Tacoma	$3,669,082
Berkeley	3,379,409
Spokane	2,124,037
Sacramento	3,353,084
Stockton	1,712,738

Pasadena also falls in this group, with a total of over $3,000,000.

Advertising Did It

San Bernardino Telegram

The two Wrigley factories in Brooklyn and Chicago are turning out an average of 43,000,000 sticks of gum a day.

What built up this enormous business in a few years?

Answer: Advertising! Admittedly, Wrigley had to have a gum that pleased the public taste. But many other gum companies, with a satisfactory product, remain small because they haven't advertised on a big scale.

Philosopher Emerson was wrong. You may make a better mousetrap, but the world won't beat a path to your door unless you get your message to the world by advertising.

Advertising is the lantern that finds business in dark times.—San Bernardino Telegram.

Johnson Steps Up

Sacramento Bee

Senator Hiram Johnson has been made a member of the senate rules committee, thus giving him a place on six of the committees of that body.

Two of these are of prime importance—the Immigration and foreign relations committees.

Just after completing the service of his first term, the California Senator has made a remarkable showing in securing committee memberships.

For the Senate worships the god of seniority, and the newcomer faces heavy odds in obtaining recognition.

Editorial Shorts

When the Foolkiller persuades a man to drive at night without lights he knocks off and calls it a day.

It frequently happens that a man thinks he is a philosopher when he is merely too darned lazy to worry.

There's one fine thing about peace. One can cuss France for her folly without being accused of treason.

The halo nations put on when they agreed to scrap battleships seems to fade a little when submarines are mentioned.

China is in the unfortunate position of a nation that has accumulated so many grievances that the world can hardly hope to find time to straighten all of them out.—Washington Star.

Mighty Hard to Stop

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

SOFT SEATS

The standing tree is an inspiring thing. That one which has fallen or leans, pictures something to us of pity or doubt. A standing crowd looks much more powerful than one which is seated. Action seems potent about things which stand.

To walk through a park and see, on the one hand, benches filled with sitting people, looking aimlessly into space or talking as aimlessly, and, on the other hand, people passing quickly through on their way to finish jobs—here you have a cross-section of our brief life span.

The turtle toddles along and is useful, for he faces his destiny in real turtle spirit. But the man—created in the image of his Creator—must either carry out his mission as a human being, or else pine into deadness and death.

"Life is real, life is earnest," wrote Longfellow. "It is a serious business to start a soul voyaging toward Eternity," I once heard a great speaker exclaim in a noted lecture.

Who, then, shall occupy the soft seats of this whirling world? None but the ill and disabled—and those who have EARNED them.

Stand up, my friend, and be counted. Stand up so that you may be ready for "a fight or a frolic"—and be game to the last.

The Soft Seat Brigade will always be around. But you, who are normal and free, stay out of it—neither does it toil nor spin.

The hard seats and the rocky ways develop and harden us. To be ready we must be fit.

Glory's sunsets illumine only those lives which have experienced blistered hands and the continued touch of toil and labor.

Soft seats and soft hands tempt from Time only bitterness and loss. You see best when you stand—and you grow most when you work!

MERCY

(Merchant of Venice)

The quality of mercy is not strain'd,
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice blest;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes.
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown;
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings;
But mercy is above this sceptred sway;
It is enthroned in the hearts of kings,
It is an attribute to God Himself;
And earthly power doth then show like God's,
When mercy seasons justice.

Meat Inspection

Every day as the millions of consumers over the country sit down to their breakfast, dinner, or supper they receive a direct benefit from the work of the large force of Government inspectors who see to it that all the meat products leave the packing plants without any taint of disease clinging to them. These inspectors are on duty in 839 packing and meat-preparing plants, and perform a service that in the aggregate is enormous, the total number of animals examined during the last year, both before and after slaughter, totaling more than 62,000,000. This was 4.7 per cent less than the preceding year, but 5.6 per cent more than the average for the 14 years since the work of Federal meat inspection of the United States Department of Agriculture was started.

It Is Not Easy

To apologize.
To begin over.
To admit error.
To be unselfish.
To take advice.
To be charitable.
To be considerate.
To endure success.
To keep on trying.
To avoid mistakes.
To forgive and forget.
To keep out of the rut.
To make the most of a little.
To maintain a high standard.
To recognize the silver lining.
To shoulder a deserved blame.
BUT IT ALWAYS PAYS.

CHAPTER 264
WILLIE WHISKERS GETS PINCHED
By Harvey Elliott

When Old Mother Pig honked at Willie Whiskers, Willie kept from getting run into by leaping over Mother Pig's back. But Willie had his own machine working now, and he wheeled around before Mother Pig could get stopped, and took aim. He saw that it would be far softer butting on the hind end than it would be on the front. He didn't much like to run his head into Old Mother Pig's mouth, but the other end was different.

"Snack! Bang! Willie Whiskers hit Old Mother Pig so hard that she knocked two rails out of the fence. She had her mouth open to bite the Goat, and she bit one of the rails instead. From the teeth marks she left, Willie was thankful that he did his butting at the tail end.

While Mother Pig was pulling her head out of the fence, Willie thought it was a good time to get away. So up he hops on the rail fence, walks around and jumps down close to the place where Mother Pig knocked the rails out.

One little Pig was squatted under the fence, hiding because of the fright it got a while ago. Willie Whiskers jumped close to where it was. "Orank!" shouted the little Pig at the top of its voice.

Old Mother Pig again came to the rescue. Willie thought he was safe, and just grinned at Old Mother Pig, honking at him on the other side of the fence. Then Willie got the surprise of his life. Mother Pig smashed right through the hole where she had knocked the rails out.

"Ba-a-a!" Before Willie Whiskers knew what had happened, Old Mother Pig had a mouthful of Goat right on the fat place of his side.

"Ba-a-a!" Let loose of there, you Old Hog, before I butt you over the fence!" shouted Willie as he jerked away. Well, Mother Pig didn't say anything, she just kept her mouth shut, and when Willie got himself stopped over at the far side of the barn-lot, he discovered that his side hurt terribly and that he had lost a big wad of his hair.

Over by the rail fence, Old Mother Pig was trying to spit a big wad of Goat hair out of her mouth.

African Asset

The greatest undeveloped portion of the globe today is Africa—great in soil, minerals, water power and varied climate. As a result of the war, Great Britain came into control of a sufficient area of Africa to give her practically absolute control of the future industrial and commercial development of that vast continent.

While there are some portions of the continent not under British control, these portions are so small and disconnected as to be dependent upon the British areas for their prosperity. All the important railroad transportation and practically all the ocean transportation in and out of Africa will pay tribute to Great Britain.

Time to Smile

HAD SEEN HIM SOMEWHERE
A woman writes: My husband, who is a minister, had occasion one afternoon while making calls to pass over the lawn. His father pretended not to see the child and walked past the gate without speaking. Amusement written on his face, Edward sprang up from his play and ran after his father, calling, "Say is your name 'Daddy'?"—Boston Transcript.

DEFECTIVE VISION AND CRIMINALITY

That delinquency and criminal tendencies may be corrected or greatly lessened by correcting defective vision in children is the finding of the California League for the Conservation of Vision, in a report of investigations on "Crime and Delinquency," just made public by them.

Judges of delinquency officials and statistics from juvenile court records are quoted in the report by the committee. The most interesting and authoritative of these findings are by Presiding Judge Charles L. Brown, of the municipal court of Philadelphia, and Judge Wadhams, of New York.

Judge Brown, who is an authority upon the juvenile branch of the municipal court, had a special statistical survey made for the California League for the Conservation of Vision of nearly three thousand juvenile delinquency cases. Twenty-five per cent or seven hundred and fifty had defective vision, while sixteen per cent or five hundred actually had trouble with their eyes.

Judge Brown says: "I know that judges and social workers all over the country can cite hundreds of cases where delinquency and anti-social conduct depended, not on some wicked perversity in the child, but on such a simple thing as defective vision.

"We have a department connected with the court which deals with the physical defects of children and adults. Again and again children and adults must be referred to have defective vision corrected by glasses or treatment, and afterwards the delinquency disappears or is much lessened.

"Many a child is inattentive in school and may eventually become a truant because he cannot study his lessons properly, as his eyesight needs attention."

Judge Wadhams, New York jurist, says: "Bad eyes make bad men. Many a boy whose eyes are out of focus finds school life a bore and it very easy to drift into criminality." The investigation of the league covered a good part of the United States, and while not yet completed is so full of information of vital importance to the public that the directors decided to make it public at this time.

When the work is completed it probably will be held before a conference of judges, delinquency officials and social workers of California, with the expectation that they will find it of great assistance in lessening the large number of delinquency cases in California.

It is quite a clock sed pop. And he started to read again and pritty soon the clock played another tune, pop saying, Hello, the darn things out of order already.

It is not, certainly its not, its supposed to do that every 15 minnits, that was you call the chimes, sed ma, and pop said, Do you mean to say I haff to listen to them every 15 minnits? and ma sed, cortenly, theyre bewtiffil.

Theyre all rite, any wen youve herd them once you dont feel like hearing them agen 15 minnits later and so on indefinitely, sed pop, how am I going to keep my mind on wat Im reading?

Now Willyum dont be abedf, theyre the chimes sed ma.

Well I dont need any chimes ringing over me, Im not sick or anything sed pop, and ma sed, Now Willyum, thats a perfectly bewtiffil clock and theyre perfectly bewtiffil chimes and its cortenly disappointing to have you carry on about them after I stood in that dreadful mob 2 hours to have my keywons redeemed.

Im not saying anything, wat am I saying, the clocks all rite, sed pop. And he got up and started to look at it close, saying, Hello, heers a little gimmick to make the chimes stop ringing, thats a fine idee, thats swell, its a grate clock.

Now Willyum, dont you dare tamper with that clock, dont you touch it, youll have it out of order, sed ma, and pop sed, Who's touching it, Im not touching it. And he started to read agen and Mrs. Hews came and ma went out and the chimes rang 2 more times and then pop got up and turned them off and kept on reading with a happy expression.

"Life Capital" Loss

The London Morning Post publishes an estimate of "life capital" lost in the World war. By this expression it does not mean the actual number of lives lost, but "the effect of the war on the vitality of the population measured in terms of the age and expectation of life of the present generation, as compared with what it would have been had there been no war."

Applying this test to Germany, it finds that the average age of the population rose from 26 years and 48 weeks in 1910, to 29 years and 34 weeks in 1919.

If we take the "expectation of life" at each age or age group and multiply this by the number of persons in a population at each such age or group, we get a total representing the "life capital of that population."

What, then does this rise in the average age, added to the loss of potential lives, caused directly by the war, amount to? In the case of Germany, as at present constituted, there was at the time of the census taken on Oct. 8, 1919, a population of 64,000,000. Had there been no war the population of the same area should have been, according to the experience of the years 1911-14, at least 69,000,000.

A valuation of the years of expectation of life of the actual population of 64,000,000 shows that, as compared with the expected population of 69,000,000, the latter sex distribution at the age and sex distribution obtaining in 1910, the loss of life capital has been 157,000,000 of years—Living Age.
